BAKER ACCUSATION

Letter Sent Walter Newton
Urging Nomination Read
by McKellar.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The lawyers' reply that is beating in the Senate about the head of Judge John J. Parker continued yesterday, but with little things, having no regard to the merits making for the final outcome.

For example, Senator Wagner, of New York, made what senators generally agreed was a most able argument against the Judge's confirmation, perhaps the most able that has been made. But in the concluding paragraphs he dealt briefly with the Negro opposition, whereupon two Southern Democrats who had intended to vote against confirmation intimated that they might switch and another who had intended to speak against him refused to say a word.

In the final analysis, these senators may be in the opposition line-up, but it is an illustration of the determining influences in the case.

20 Senators Uncertain.

Whether Judge Parker will be confirmed when the final vote comes, probably Saturday or Monday, will be determined by approximately 20 senators who are switching back and forth—on the one hand Republicans regulars who are not concerned with his ability or lack of it, but who because of Negro opposition in their States had at first decided to vote against and who now because of another fire from home are wondering whether they might not just as well vote for confirmation and at least salvage out of their political dilemma the fact that they stood with the President, and on the other hand those Southern Democrats who at heart are against Judge Parker for one reason or another, but who will not vote against him if, for example, Representative Oscar DePriest continues to sit there in the Senate chamber during the debate.

In the meantime, there was quite a reaction in favor of Judge Parker as the result of the explosion of the charge made by former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker that Judge Parker, as special assistant to the Attorney General in the prosecution of war fraud cases, had continued to prosecute a defendant when innocent in his possession proved him innocent.

Conduct of Case Commended.

A transcript of the charge to the jury made by Federal Judge Groner discloses that he particularly commended Judge Parker's conduct of the prosecution. The Judge did express amazement at the lack of proof held by the prosecution, which in the absence of his later commendation of Parker, might be interpreted as criticism, or on the other hand might be interpreted the other way. The commendatory utterance at least offsets any unfavorable interpretation that might be made of the first part of the Judge's charge.

An enlightening touch was given to yesterday's debate by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, when he read a letter from Joseph M. Dixon, native of North Carolina, now of Montana, and Assistant Secretary of the Interior, to Walter Newton, secretary to the President, written under date of March 13, just five days after Justice Sanford had died.

In this letter Mr. Dixon wrote that "if the exigencies of the situation permitted" the appointment of Judge Parker "would be a major political stroke."

"North Carolina has had no outstanding recognition by this administration," he wrote, explaining that the State offered the best opportunity of remaining in the Republican fold after the "political revolution of 1928."

It was apparently one of those letters which unfortunately had been permitted to remain in the Department of Justice file which was sent to the Senate Judiciary Committee with Judge Parker's nomination. Mr. Newton had forwarded it to the Department of Justice.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts observed that the letter was written before Justice Sanford's body could have been very cold.

Senator McKellar insisted that he did not impute political motives to the President in his selection, but he contended that in view of this letter it all became the administration

Crosby Picks Varney As Special Police Aid

Sergeant to Be Personal
Adviser and Inquirer for Commissioner.

Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby, named by President Hoover to supervise the administration of the Police Department, yesterday designated Detective Serg. F. A. Varney as his personal police aid. Serg. Varney will be the new Commissioner's adviser and investigator in police matters and is expected to assume his new duties today.

He will be under the orders of Gen. Crosby and will report directly to him, rather than through Inspector William S. Shelby, chief of the Detective Bureau, to which Serg. Varney is officially assigned, or through Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police.

He will be used to investigate, as the Commissioner's representative, whatever complaints or reports of conditions Gen. Crosby may deem wise to have investigated independently of the commanding officers of the Police Department.

The appointment is an innovation in the history of the Police Department.

SERGT. F. A. VARNEY.

Some of the superintendents of police have, in the past, requested money or authority to employ various investigators or to use various agencies without public announcement.

SIMMONS IS SLATED FOR NEW HOUSE POST

To Give Up Chairmanship of District Subcommittee on Appropriations.

WOOD ANNOUNCES PLAN

A change in the chairmanship of the District subcommittee of the House appropriations committee is to be made at the next session of Congress. It was learned yesterday.

Representative Robert G. Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, who has been the chairman for the last three years, is to be promoted, it was announced. He is to be made chairman of the subcommittee that handles the Department of Agriculture appropriation bill, a post he has long coveted.

That the change is contemplated was admitted yesterday by Representative Will Wood (Republican), of Indiana, chairman of the full appropriations committee. In making the admission, Mr. Wood said, however, that it was possible that the Nebraska might be continued as a member of the local subcommittee.

The question as to who will succeed Representative Simmons as chairman of the District subcommittee evidently has not been settled. However, if the seniority rule should prevail the job would go to the ranking Republican of the subcommittee, Representative William Holaday, of Illinois. Here another question arises. Would Mr. Holaday want it?

The three years that Mr. Simmons has had charge of writing the District appropriation bill have been three years of strife. He has steadfastly fought proposals for an increased Federal contribution toward the cost of running the city; in fact, has stated that the present contribution—a lump sum of $9,000,000—was too much.

Mr. Simmons is emerging from a battle with the local school authorities. In the hearings on the bill and in the House debate he charged that.

FORT MEADE TO GET FEDERAL PRISONERS

Atlanta Penitentiary Will Send 200 Inmates to Maryland Fort.

RELIEF FOR CONGESTION

As a part of the movement to relieve congestion in Federal prisons, 200 inmates of the Atlanta Penitentiary will be put to work at Fort George G. Meade, Md., according to announcement by the Department of Justice. Altogether between 600 and 700 of the inmates of Federal prisons are being placed at various Government reservations, and if the experiment proves successful, between 1,500 and 2,000 men will be put to work in this fashion.

The prisoners will be placed at Fort Meade by May 15, it was said, and other Army reservations will be supplied later. Camp Lee, of Petersburg, Va., is scheduled to get 600 and Fort Riley, Kans., about 800. Other reservations along the West Coast will be utilized as the plan is broadened.

The prisoner-laborer will not do work that can be done legally with hired labor, it was explained, but will make improvements, for which the reservations have no funds. At Fort Meade they will build roads, among other things.

Only prisoners of the trusty type, whose terms are short and due to expire within a few months will be sent to these camps. Thus, it is believed, there will be no danger of their attempting to run away.

As the Army has a number of wartime cantonment buildings at Fort Meade and other reservations, which it lacks funds to tear down, the men will be housed in these and guarded by Leavenworth guards. Federal prisoners will be prepared by prison cooks.

The terms of all the prisoners will expire before cold weather sets in. However, if the experiment is found feasible, permanent barracks will be built so that the men can be employed summer and winter.

Fort Meade covers 8,900 acres. It is

Black Book Suggests Dozens of Feuds in New York
Crime World.

New York, April 30 (N.Y.W.N.S.). A black book and a noncommittal widow stood tonight as the chief mysteries in the slaying of Harry Block, Broadway night club magnate and racketeer, into whose crumpled form two thin, pasty-faced youths pumped half a dozen bullets early today.

The book contained the name of practically every racketeer in town. It suggested so many feuds as a possible background for the killing that police spent all day groping through a veritable forest of clues without developing one that they considered first rate.

The dark-haired, trim formed 25-year-old widow, who stood beside Block in the elevator of a high-class apartment while the men fired at him, answered reluctantly even simple questions about when and where she had married Block. After extended questioning, Assistant District Attorney Saul Price stated:

Friend of Marlow.

"It is my belief she could probably identify the men that did the shooting but she refused to talk." Block was a good friend of Frankie Marlow, Broadway racketeer, whose murder remains unsolved. Beer, night clubs, slot machines and politics in the Bronx were mentioned as his rackets. A gold badge bearing the number 67, and Block's name was found in Block's apartment, and indicated he had been a special deputy sheriff in the Bronx.

Part ownership in the Silver Slipper Club, on Forty-seventh street near Broadway, was held by Block. He also held interests at one time or another in the Cotton Club of Harlem. In this connection, the wrecking of the Plantation Club, on January 18, 1930, was mentioned as a possible cause for a revenge motive in the killing.

Following the wrecking of the Plantation, mechanic went to work and put it in shape for a quick reopening. It opened for a day or two, then shut, the management reporting they were terrorized into closing down.

VENUE CHANGE ALLOWED FOR BRADYS' TRIAL

Two Brothers' Murder
Hearing to Be Held

DEFENSE TRIUMPHS

Montgomery Court Will

Fatal Bombing.

INDICTMENTS GIVEN

Appeal Is Granted by Judge
Mattingly as Attorneys
Claim Ill Feeling.

Removal to Rockville of the trial of Lawrence Leroy Brady, Washington auto mechanic, and his brother, Herman, who were indicted for murder in connection with the Seat Pleasant bombing of New Year's Day, was ordered yesterday by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly in circuit court at Upper Marlboro, Md.

The change of venue was granted following the filing of an affidavit by the attorneys for the defense, Mr. Hampton Magruder, State Senator Saaser and Frank Hall, which alleged that they did not believe their clients could receive a fair trial in Prince Georges County.

Judge Mattingly ordered that the trial be removed to Rockville, where the charges will be heard by a Montgomery County jury which would not be subject, it is held, to the intense feeling in Prince Georges County relative to the murder.

June Seen Earliest Date.

The two brothers were indicted by the Prince Georges County grand jury on charges that they "did kill and murder" Naomi Hall Brady, wife of Herman, and Dorothy and Samuel Hall.

The three were killed when a supposed Christmas package proved to be a bomb which exploded in the kitchen of the home of John Hall in Seat Pleasant, killing three and wounding three others.

Removal to Rockville is believed to preclude a hearing of the charges against the brothers before June 1 at the earliest. The Prince Georges County Circuit Court adjourns tomorrow in order that the judges can journey to Calver County for the opening of court next Monday and two weeks later court opens in Charles County. As both State's Attorney J. Frank Parran and Special Prosecutor J. Wilson Ryan, who is assisting Mr. Parran in the prosecution of this case, have important cases at both courts, it is very improbable that any trial date can be reached before June.

Full Montgomery Docket.

The condition of the courts is further complicated by the fact that the Montgomery County Court is faced with the trial of another very important case, the trial for criminal libel

CHANGE FOR HOOVER FARM HELP IS ASKED

Iowan, in House, Seeks to Give President Opportunity to Use His Plan.

DEBATE ON TARIFF TODAY

(Associated Press.)
On the eve of the opening of House debate on the tariff bill conference report, a Western Republican arose in that body yesterday and urged that President Hoover be given a "fair and full chance" to carry out his pledge to assist agriculture without the export debenture plan.

The speaker, Representative Ramseyer, of Iowa, drew a reply from Representative Jones (Democrat), Texas, long a debenture champion, who contended various domestic industries, principally iron and steel, already were receiving Federal bounties in low freight rates on commodities for export.

The exchange was preliminary to a revival of the old contest over the debenture that originated with the offering of the Republican farm relief bill last spring. The Senate twice wrote the debenture into that measure, over the protest of President Hoover, but receded finally after the House turned it down by a big vote.

A new debenture plan, sponsored by Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, was incorporated in the tariff bill by the Senate. House majority leaders are confident that it, too, will be rejected, especially since Representative Ramseyer, regarded as a power in the farm group, came out yesterday wholeheartedly against it.

Under a plan mapped out by the Republican steering committee, the conference report will be taken up today at 11 a. m., an hour earlier than usual, with a vote expected before adjournment on the hundreds of rates and administrative provisions agreed upon in conference.

The rates and other provisions in disagreement then will be taken up for separate votes in the order in

PISTOL IS EXAMINED FOR MURDER CLEWS

Gun Found in Foxhall Village
Same Caliber as One That Slew Mary Baker.

BULLETS ARE COMPARED

Bullets fired from the 32-caliber automatic pistol found in Foxhall Village are being examined by the Bureau of Standards to determine whether there is any similarity between them and the slugs found in Mary Baker's body.

Authorities are not inclined to attach any significance to the finding of the gun, but are hesitant to overlook any clue that might lead to the murderer. Queries have been sent to the manufacturer of the firearm in the hope that its purchaser may be located.

Since the discovery of the girl's body so many paradoxical situations have been uncovered that the police are bewildered. While the gun found in Foxhall Village is an automatic, it is of the same caliber as the lead bullets that killed the girl.

Ammunition used in an automatic is steel-jacketed. To decide whether lead slugs could possibly have been fired from the automatic the police yesterday turned all the evidence over to ballistic experts.

Efforts to return to this jurisdiction George Kelly, one of the fingers of the murdered girl's clothing, were unsuccessful. Investigators want to question him regarding the disappearance of jewelry and clothing from a rooming house on Thirteenth street. Kelly is known to be in New York City and the operatives are striving to have him return voluntarily for interrogation. Late yesterday the police were without information as to his exact whereabouts. His relatives have been located and through them police hope to reach Kelly.

Police think he may be able to explain the presence of stolen trinkets and a novel among Miss Baker's effects in a trip sewer near the murder scene.

Lesh Is Considered For Court Vacancy

Plans Started to Relieve Congested District
Supreme Court.

Paul E. Lesh, local attorney and civic worker, is under consideration for appointment as a justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, it was learned authoritatively yesterday.

As this fact was made known, two moves were made to relieve the terrific congestion now existing in the court. The House Judiciary committee made a favorable report on the Gibson bill for two additional judges, and the present judges decided to resign their assignments beginning Monday.

The Department of Justice, which recommends judicial appointments to President Hoover, admitted yesterday that Attorney Lesh is under consideration for the local appointment. However, it was added there also are a number of others under consideration.

Among the others who have been recommended to Attorney General Mitchell are Joseph W. Cox, John E. Laakey and W. W. Millan, all three of whom have been endorsed by a committee of the District Bar Association.

"Mr. Lesh is a native of the National Capital, having been born here October 29, 1886. He was educated in the public schools, Central High School, Cornell University and Georgetown University Law School, and holds the degrees of LL. B. and LL. M.

He married Ethel L. Cooke and they have two daughters, Nancy and Jane.

PAUL E. LESH.

He is a member of the Bar Association, the Masonic Order, the Cornell Club and the Grace Reformed Church.

He now is a member of the law firm of Peelle, Ogilby & Lesh, with offices in the Kellogg Building.

The Gibson bill providing two additional judges for the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia was favorably reported yesterday by unanimous vote of the House Judiciary committee.

A similar bill, sponsored by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas, now is before the Senate Judiciary committee.

The creation of additional judgeships here is one of two recommendations.

Genuine Titian Discovered
When Detroit Institute
Removes Alterations.

Detroit, April 30 (A.P.).—A painting purchased by the Detroit Institute of Arts at the recent sale of the Havemeyer collection in New York for $400 has been revealed as a masterpiece by Titian.

Its value is estimated conservatively at $150,000, and other appraisals range as high as $300,000.

The original picture, painted by Titian in about 1565, emerged in excellent condition when overpainting believed to have been applied 50 years ago, was removed by William Suhr, the institute's restorer after the painting was received at the institute.

Identity of the painting, catalogued as a work of "the school of Titian," was suspected by Dr. Wilhelm R. Valentiner, the institute's art director, who had seen the picture in the

Bitter Dispute Involves Hyde, Legge, Barnes
and Fort.

SECRETARY CHIDES
"SENATE WILD MEN"

Head of Business Survey
Says Market Is Being Undermined.

CONGRESS MEMBER
APPROVES MEASURE

Repeal Resolution May Be Halted by Acceptance of "Dollar" Challenge.

(Associated Press.)

A dispute over the work of the Federal Farm Board swept over the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States yesterday in a turbulent session in which business men bitterly denounced activities of the board and its defenders stood squarely behind their guns in staunch resistance.

In it there crowded close upon one another references to "wild men of the Senate" by Secretary Hyde, a denunciation of the farm marketing act by Daniel Millett, Denver stockman and banker; a challenge to business men by Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, to back their criticisms with money, and a later acceptance of this challenge by Julius Barnes, chairman of the national business survey conference.

Entering the debate unexpectedly, Representative Fort, of New Jersey, who, as a member of the House agricultural committee, helped frame the agricultural marketing act which established the Farm Board, asserted Congress would "stand by" its handiwork. He challenged business men to produce a better solution.

Board and Act Condemned.

Previously a long list of representatives of various industries had condemned both the board and the act as placing the Government in competition with business, as undermining private initiative, and as operating contrary to economic law.

The debate was opened by Chairman Legge. In defending the board he criticized the Chamber of Commerce for having failed to take action "to improve the farm situation after voting overwhelmingly in favor of the principle of cooperative marketing."

He asserted condemnation of the board and of Congress by the chamber was unjust since in "your own publications, written by your own representatives, you will find the pertinent recommendations for practically everything Congress has done during the last few years."

Millett Makes Reply.

Replying, Mr. Millett attacked the Farm Board and the marketing act as "a fantastic dream of stabilization." He asserted the marketing and distributing businesses "properly fear the working of this act," and charged the Farm Board under its presented a "glaring inconsistency" in advocating decreased production. The board's activities, he said, were an interference with the law of economic supply and demand.

Secretary Hyde entered the debate with an impromptu defense of the Farm Board. At the outset he asked members of the chamber to "take a look at the wild-men over in the Senate and view the rising tide of discontent."

"More misapprehension with reference to the meaning and purpose of the agricultural marketing act has been produced here in this highly respectable and influential audience than I have read in all the farm journals in America," Mr. Hyde asserted.

Prices Not Pegged.

He said the Farm Board "does not expect to peg prices" and has made no attempt to do so. The mistake made by the board, he said, was the same one a banker makes when he loans too much. He said everybody believed last fall that wheat would go anywhere from $1.40 to $1.60, and that the "grain trade believed it because it bought two-thirds of the crop at that price."

"The price sagged unduly," Hyde said. "We operated on a basis of fixed prices. If this is unsound, strikes them all down."

Mr. Port told members of the chamber that if they wanted the marketing act repealed they should suggest an improvement or an alternative.

"Congress had to act," he said, "to protect both agriculture and industry against the disamalgamation of a million and a half men from agriculture. You can not show this number of men and 7,000,000 dependents into the lap of the Nation without disorganizing the economic structure."

Mr. Barnes, the last speaker, accepted the challenge from Chairman Legge to raise money from business for what he described as "a complete survey of the farm situation," and challenged statements by the Farm Board leader that the chamber had failed to back its pledge of cooperation in the marketing act.

He said the chamber had not aided the Farm Board because of the belief that it was "a long sound line to try and undermine private initiative and motive power."

Allegation by Barnes. The business survey chairman said he believed a "great marketing act" was being steadily undermined by present policies. Earlier, under a five-minute rule of discussion, members of the chamber representing various industries had voiced condemnation of the marketing act and urged the chamber to take steps for its repeal or modification.

W. C. McCabe, of Duluth, representing the grain exchange and dealer trade, contended the act had visited more ill upon his industry than any other business.

The independent grain merchant can not hope to meet this situation, McCabe said. "It is the ruination of his business. It is unfair and unjust. We demand that the marketing act be modified."

Government Interference Hinted. Harrison Jones, Chicago, said he represented poultry, butter and egg merchants who handled a commodity having an aggregate farm value of about $4,000,000,000. He urged a "policy of modification whereby American citizens may remain in business without outlaws by Government interference."

Likewise criticizing the act, W. F. Jensen, of Chicago, representing the American Association of Butter Manufacturers, said his industry recognized the right of producers to cooperate, but believed "that genuine cooperation comes from the heart and not from subsidies or legislative force."

Representatives of the coal and woolen industries also asserted the marketing act was putting the business through putting the Government in competition with private concerns.

Outcome Is Speculative. Julius Barnes' acceptance of Chairman Legge's challenge to match him "dollar for dollar" in setting up an agency to ameliorate farm ills left highly speculative last night the outcome of efforts before the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to discredit the agricultural marketing act.

It was not so much the challenge itself as it was its influence in rallying delegates to the producers' standard that led to the first prediction at the board's headquarters, since the convention opened, that the proposed resolution for repeal of the act would not be adopted.

With unhesitating rapidity, five-minute declarations from the floor of the convention against the act were interrupted by defenders who included Secretary Hyde, of the Department of Agriculture, L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, John Brandt, of the Land-O-Lakes Creameries, Litchfield, Minn., and Alfred Stone, a Mississippi cotton planter.

Barnes Proposes Acceptance. Closing the session four hours later, Mr. Barnes, chairman of the National Business Survey Conference, declared that he was not wealthy enough to accept the challenge personally, but that he would start a collection from industry sufficient to match Mr. Legge's offer.

Later, at his office, Chairman Legge said Mr. Barnes had not properly met his proposition.

"I offered and I still am ready to offer," he said, "to match members of the chamber individually in financing such an institution. Mr. Barnes erred in interpreting my challenge as being made to all members of the chamber collectively."

For several years the chairman said, he has been thinking of an organization such as the National Agricultural Foundation proposed in 1927 by the Agricultural Survey conducted jointly by the National Industrial Conference Board and the Chamber of Commerce.

"It is my notion," he said, "that it should be a foundation broad enough in its set-up to perform any helpful

Farther Tax Revisions Favored by Mellon Aid

(Associated Press.)

Although speaking "purely unofficially," Undersecretary Mills of the Treasury gave a United States Chamber of Commerce conference on taxation his yesterday that the Government had not completed "its own voluntary revision of Federal taxes."

Disclaiming any knowledge of what the Government could do in the immediate future, Mr. Mills expressed the belief that the present 12 1/2 per cent rate on corporate gains was excessive and should be brought to conformity with the tax levied on a source of income.

He favored also drastic simplification of returns for the 2,000,000 odd taxpayers whose tax averages about $16 a year.

Any Treasury proposals for further reduction, he indicated, would be made, if feasible, at the next regular session of Congress in December.

service it can. Among its first duties would be a scientific classification of farm lands and a subsequent effort to turn them to the production of crops for which they were best suited.

"It wouldn't overlap the Farm Board or any other agricultural agency but would be helpful to what the board is doing. It would loan money to finance research and to develop the utilization of farm by-products. Since its needs would be specific during the times it would not be wise to limit its scope to one specific purpose. It would use power of persuasion and education to demonstrate to farmers, where the facts warranted, how hopeless it was to try to make a living on their particular land or without a change in management."

The organization would not be operated for profit to itself, he added, but for the exception of $1,000,000 to the University of California the philanthropies of the last 10 years, approximately $2,000,000,000 annually, have not provided $1 for agriculture.

RITCHIE IS ALARMED AT POLITICAL TREND

Tells Commerce Chambers States' Rights Sinking Into Oblivion.

DRY AMENDMENT RAPPED

States' rights are sinking into oblivion unless a new political incarnation develops, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, told the National Association of Chambers of Commerce yesterday.

"Our Government is at the political cross-roads," he said. "We came to our high estate by highways which were tried and tested. Now we are detouring into new and untraveled byways, some of them not even paved with good intentions."

Declaring that the cornerstone of Government is local self-government, Gov. Ritchie flayed "abuse" of the Sixteenth amendment, which he said permitted the Government "to take as much of the citizen's earnings as it pleases."

"This amendment disarms the protection which the Constitution gave the people against arbitrary taxation when it provided that direct taxes must be apportioned among the States, according to population," he said.

"I refer to this not in criticism of the principles of income taxation, but to show what a departure it represents from the theory of our Constitution."

With reference to the eighteenth amendment, Gov. Ritchie said: "It is a complete repeal so far as intoxicating liquors are concerned of the States all powers not granted the Nation."

In closing, Gov. Ritchie said, "Let the people realize that we are not at Armageddon to settle this question, and I dare hope for a re-dedication to those underlying principles of the Republic which have been hammered out in the forge of experience and tested in the furnace of law."

PRESIDENT GETS NAVAL TREATY

Senators Hearings Are Not to Be Entirely Open to Public, Is Hint.

ROBINSON GIVEN OVATION

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Hoover may send the London Naval Treaty to the Senate today or tomorrow and the fight for ratification will forthwith begin in earnest. The committee on foreign relations and the naval committee of the Senate will arrange for hearings within the next few days whether the treaty is to meet ready opposition.

Both Secretary Stimson and Senator Robinson, minority leader as well as one of the American delegates, held informal conferences yesterday with the press. Mr. Stimson presented the official text to President Hoover shortly after noon. Senator Robinson was given a special welcome when he appeared in the Senate chamber, a recess having been voted to permit his conferees to greet him and congratulate him on his work.

In advance of statements which Mr. Stimson will make in explaining features of the treaty to the foreign relations committee, it is known that the following points will be emphasized in support of the text as it stands:

Points to Be Stressed.

First—The American delegation, including Secretary of the Navy Adams, unanimously indorses the treaty.

Second—Naval authorities with the delegation are a unit in supporting the treaty and regard the interests of the United States Navy amply protected.

Third—The results achieved represent the best that was obtainable under the circumstances in view of the fact that each of the Governments represented had to accept the composite agreement.

There have been reports that hearings before the foreign relations committee would be public, but it is understood that this plan will be modified. Members of the delegation would admittedly not be free to discuss negotiations nor the reasons which impelled them to act if hearings were public. Information reflecting favorably on American handling of delicate negotiations might have a correspondingly unfavorable effect in Great Britain and Japan.

Robinson Praised Treaty.

Senator Robinson told newspapermen yesterday afternoon that he regarded the treaty as an excellent thing for the United States Navy and as an incentive to maintain a balanced Navy by building up to treaty standards.

"It will be a wholesome policy to keep the Navy up to the standards which the treaty contemplates," the senator said, "or just plain 'Annie'."

"We have got to keep building up our Navy if we are going to maintain adequate naval defense. We cannot afford to build or abandon our position as a naval power."

Mr. Robinson figured on an expense of about $100,000,000 a year to keep the Navy up to treaty standards, but is under the impression that more expense would be involved if America had the treaty standards to which to build up. An orderly building program of modern ships to be constructed without incurring ill will or suspicion of the close foreign powers is under the impression that more expense would be involved if America had the treaty standards to which to build up.

Change of Attitude Noted.

Senator Robinson said there was a marked improvement in the attitude of other powers toward America since the treaty was signed. There was distrust and suspicion at first, he said, and there was a disappointingly cold atmosphere even the case may be. And mistakes could not understand why we wanted parity. The senator added, "It seemed unreasonable to them, in their position and security. Toward the end of the conference the question became 'What is parity and how can it be brought about?' There was a marked change in sentiment toward America a very short time before the conference concluded its work."

Deputy W. Morrow, retiring ambassador to Mexico and a member of the delegation, will confer with President Hoover today. Mr. Morrow left the delegation at New York to pay a brief visit to his home at Englewood, N. J., before leaving late yesterday for Washington.

"Hired Girls," "Up in Revolt," "Want Use of Front Door"

Country's Domestics in Detroit to Tell World They Don't Like "Maid" and Haven't Any Place to Entertain Boy Friends.

Detroit, Mich., April 30 (A.P.)—Misses all over the country, take warning—this hired girl is on the warpath.

Gathered at the industrial group conference of the National Y. W. C. A. convention here today, those quiet girls who are known as "the maid," the "hired girl" or just plain "Annie" came out from behind the anonymity of their uniforms and drew up an indictment of mistresses all over the land.

No longer is the term "maid" acceptable, they say. In its place has come the "domestic employee" or "Miss Brown" or "Miss Jones" whatever the case may be. And mistresses who have their employees' welfare at heart will act accordingly.

Their grievances, the girls say, are these:

They can't get anywhere with the stigma of "hired girl" attached to them forever. "Maid" isn't a whole lot better, and is at the very bottom of the social scale.

They don't like uniforms because it puts them so far apart from people who employ them.

Their real enemy, among all things, should be a kind of social affair, pleasant and jolly.

They haven't any place to entertain the boy friends.

They haven't any assurance that they can have their regular Thursday evening off and, to use the best word, to have a rest day.

"Our whole happiness," one of the girls said, "depends upon our employer, and when she knows this, why can't she treat us as employees, the same as her husband does the people who work for him? Nobody seems to care much about the hired girl."

Mrs. Charles G. Gilkey, of Chicago, one of two nominees for national "Y" president, said: "The practice is dying out in Chicago," said Mrs. Gilkey, "because Chicago is rather a bad place, and back doors aren't safe. I think these girls deserve more recognition than they have been getting."

EXTRA SESSION PLAN OPPOSED BY WATSON

Jones Would Have Congress Meet to Finish Crime Legislation.

HOOVER VIEW GUARDED

(Associated Press.) A suggestion to President Hoover yesterday by Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, that a special session of Congress be called unless the law enforcement program is enacted, drew quick opposition at the Capitol, where Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader, turned thumbs down on the proposal.

At the same time, hope was held out by Mr. Watson and other congressional leaders that this session would see final action on high points of the Hoover program, including enactment of the bill transferring prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

Chairman Norris, of the Senate Judiciary committee, said he expected little opposition to passage of bills to transfer prohibition enforcement and to provide for building more Federal prisons, and that he thought the proposal to consolidate border patrol operations under one department would be passed.

Passage of this part of the Hoover program would leave unacted upon proposals to relieve court congestion and to establish a prohibition enforcement law for the District of Columbia.

Senator Jones, a militant dry and author of the "five and ten law," increasing penalties for prohibition law violations, said he urged the President to call the special session the day after the present one adjourns if law-enforcement measures have not been acted upon.

"I see no reason why they should not be passed at this session," he asserted.

Mr. Jones would give no indication of the response by President Hoover to the suggestion. Senator Watson said members of the Senate and House were worn out by the long legislative grind and that he favored adjournment as early as possible. Congress has been in session almost without interruption for more than a year.

Girls Given Life Terms For Stabbing Farmer

Scottsboro, Ala., April 30 (A.P.).—Mrs. Myrtle Graham, 20, and Miss Newby Motes, 19, were sentenced to life imprisonment by a Jackson County jury today for the slaying of Harry Cunningham, a young farmer, last month. Mrs. Graham stabbed Cunningham to death as he talked with a group of friends in a drug store. Miss Motes, who accompanied her, was found guilty as an accessory.

Testimony was presented purporting to show that both women were intoxicated. Mrs. Graham testified she had mistaken Cunningham for another man against whom she had a grievance. The prosecution had demanded the death penalty for both.

lions made to Congress by President Hoover in connection with the work of the Wickersham Crime Commission.

Dry Bill Up for Vote.

The President's other recommendation was for a local enforcement act that would make Washington, the model prohibition city of the country.

The bill of Senator Robert B. Howell (Republican), of Nebraska, designed to bring about this ideal, will be voted on by the Senate District committee at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

As the committee now stands, with Senator William King (Democrat), of Utah, in Europe, it is composed of six drys and six wets. Whether they vote strictly as drys and wets, however, remains to be seen.

Little Chance to Pass.

One thing, however, seems certain, and that is that the Howell bill stands little chance of passing in its present drastic form. In view of the action of Attorney General Mitchell, it is even doubtful if President Hoover would want it to pass in its present form.

The Attorney General held that the so-called "home raid" provision should be eliminated from the bill, and he so told Senator Howell. The Nebraska, however, has declined to follow his advice.

Under the home raid provision, a policeman seeing a bootlegger enter or leave a private dwelling could obtain a warrant to raid that dwelling. Under the Volstead act the officer can obtain a warrant for a place only if he has purchased liquor there.

To Realign Assignments.

In an effort to relieve conditions in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, caused by the failure of President Hoover to name a successor to Chief Justice McCoy and the illness of Justice Wendell P. Stafford, and also because the number of condemnation cases which require the entire attention of one jurist, the justices of the court will resign their assignments beginning Monday.

The new line-up will find Justice Alfred A. Wheat in Equity Division No. 1, to hear condemnation cases; Justice Jennings Bailey in Equity Court No. 2; Justice William Hitz and Justice Peyton Gordon in the two Criminal Courts, and Justice Frederick L. Siddons in Circuit Court No. 1 as the only law judges.

The line-up is entirely different from that of the October term. At that time Chief Justice McCoy, Justice Hitz and Justice Gordon took over the three criminal courts in the hope of relieving congestion. Justices Bailey and Siddons took over the two circuit courts, and Justice Stafford and Wheat were in the two equity courts.

Hoover Noticed Congestion.

Since the resignation of the chief justice there have been but two criminal courts operating and recently Justice Hitz has been forced to take over equity court assignments, that section of the court having become terribly congested because of the illness of Justice Stafford.

MAJ. GEN. BARNETT BURIED IN ARLINGTON

Volley and Taps at Grave; Funeral Services Held in Capital Church.

NOTABLES ARE PRESENT

A battalion of Marines fired a volley and taps were sounded yesterday as Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commander of the United States Marine Corps during the World War, was buried in Arlington Cemetery.

High Government officials, diplomats and statesmen among whom Gen. Barnett had a wide acquaintance attended the services which were held in the Church of the Epiphany, assisted by the Rev. Sidney K. Evans, chief of chaplains of the Navy, and the Rev. Edwin Rivers, U. S. N.

Gen. Barnett, who was 70 years old, died Sunday in the United States Naval Hospital. His death was due to pneumonia.

Without entering into the merits of such a policy on the part of the employer, he said, the question is whether the court should lend their protecting arm to the enforcement of such a policy or contract, which he contended Judge Parker did in his yellow dog decision.

"The citizen untrained in the law," Senator Wagner continued, "will naturally draw his own analogies. He will ask: 'Would the courts be equally solicitous to protect the man who insisted that only the heathen could work in his plant? Would a court enjoin a missionary from preaching the gospel to his employees? And suppose that a man employed only Republicans in his plant, would a court of equity enjoin a Democrat from electioneering among the employees?'

Conditions identical, claim.

"Or suppose that the employer insisted upon unmarried men in his plant, would the court restrain the clergyman's blessing upon a marriage vow? Of course none of these would be enjoined, but under identical conditions the effort of men to organize to better their conditions of employment was balked by Judge Parker's injunction."

In answer to the Judge's defense that he followed the Supreme Court in the Hitchman case, Senator Wagner contended, and this is the main thing he has against him, that he overlooked intervening decisions that had come with a more enlightened understanding of the situation.

He successfully defended an analogous case before the New York Circuit Court of Appeals, he recalled proudly, the case of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. vs. Lavin. The forces to charge politics of the other side.

PARKER VOTE HANGS ON MINOR MATTERS

Senator Wagner added that it was a matter of fact that Republican senators were being importuned in telegrams from Southern Republicans to confirm Parker because the union was entirely within its rights, Wagner related.

Such a development as this was most important to the opposition in holding in line Southern Democrats who were being swayed by the Negro's opposition.

Senator Wagner challenged Judge Parker's legal opinion, asserting that his decision in the celebrated yellow dog decision showed above all else a failure to respond to the human factors in the case, the fundamental matters of public policy.

It was as though, he said, "the judge when the case came before him looked around for some easy precedent as his guide without giving profound, independent thought to the matters involved."

Gave No Response, Is Claim.

The injunction which restrained the miners' union from persuading West Virginia miners to join the union, or from housing or feeding them, or rendering them any kind of aid "aroused in him no response," Senator Wagner declared. "It called forth in him no evaluation of this device in the government of our people or its effect upon our industrial relations. He was not what Cardozo (chief justice of the New York Court of Appeals) called the skeptic on the bench."

"The instrument was labelled a contract and he accepted it as labelled, without question, without doubt, without thought, totally oblivious of its possibly catastrophic effects upon the future. That failure to be aware of the facts that he was in the presence of an important problem shows a lack of statescraft which is the sine qua non of the high judicial office to which he has been nominated."

The contract concerned was that by which the coal operators forced the miners to agree that they would not join the union while in their employ.

Old Fight Renewed.

Senator Wagner painted a general picture of these contracts, saying that the old fight of the nonunion versus the closed union shop. In some instances the union by virtue of its strength forces the employer not to employ any one but "union men. In other instances employers decide that they will employ no one but nonunion employees. Sometimes, or contract, or declaration of policy, he said, is no more than a sign on the wall or a general understanding that any man found belonging to the union will be discharged.

Without entering into the merits of such a policy on the part of the employer, he said, the question is whether the court should lend their protecting arm to the enforcement of such a policy or contract, which he contended Judge Parker did in his yellow dog decision.

"The citizen untrained in the law," Senator Wagner continued, "will naturally draw his own analogies. He will ask: 'Would the courts be equally solicitous to protect the man who insisted that only the heathen could work in his plant? Would a court enjoin a missionary from preaching the gospel to his employees? And suppose that a man employed only Republicans in his plant, would a court of equity enjoin a Democrat from electioneering among the employees?'

BRIG. GEN. R. L. HOXIE IS DEAD IN FLORIDA

Engineer, Who Established
Capital's Sewer System,
Served in Civil War.

WILL BE IN DISTRICT

Word was received in Washington yesterday of the death of Brig. Gen. Richard Leveridge Hoxie, a resident of Washington and at one time an engineer in the District of Columbia. Gen. Hoxie died Tuesday afternoon in Miami, Fla. He was 86 years old. The funeral will be held from the residence here, 1832 K street northwest, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The exact time to be announced later.

As an Army Engineer in the District, Gen. Hoxie established sewer systems that are in operation today. He did the work during the Grant Administration. He laid out a part of Rock Creek Park and many of the most important streets and public squares in the National Capital.

Duerer Engravings Sold at Auction. Berlin, April 30 (A.P.).—The engravings of the "Life of the Virgin," by Albrecht Duerer, brought 130,000 marks (about $31,200) at auction here today. They were bought by Col. M. H. London. A rare copper plate engraving of Duerer's "Erasmus of Rotterdam" was sold for 62,000 marks (about $14,880) to Sessler's, Philadelphia.

TWO BRADYS WIN CHANGE OF VENUE

of the four editors of the Montgomery Independent, who were indicted by the county grand jury as the result of charges of county mismanagement leveled against the county officials of Montgomery. A hearing on pleas in abatement on these cases will be heard Monday and if they are not granted, the four editors probably will be tried this summer also.

It is possible that the Montgomery court will ask to be relieved of the responsibility of the murder trial in view of the congestion of its own docket, but this is considered unlikely.

The move of the defense counsel in asking for a change of venue was a surprise, as they have consistently denied that they planned such a move from the time that Lawrence Leroy Brady was first arrested.

Their plea for a change of venue is almost tantamount to a compulsory move, as the Maryland law provides that a change of venue must be granted when a defendant makes affidavit that he does not believe he can receive a fair and impartial trial in the county where he is charged.

Many Defense Witnesses. Trial of the case will consume at least a week, and it is considered probable that this will be lengthened into two or three weeks because of the mass of testimony which both sides are expected to place in evidence. While the defense has not revealed the full extent of its defense testimony, it is considered likely that there will be almost as many defense witnesses as there are State witnesses.

The State's case is long and involved and it will be necessary to produce a number of witnesses who will have but small contributions to the mass of evidence but whose testimony is necessary to tie in other items of evidence.

The order directing the change of venue has been signed by Judge Mattingly and passed to Clerk of the Circuit Court Summerfield Hall and will be forwarded to Rockville as quickly as possible.

Members of the defense counsel conferred at length last night with Judge Mattingly and although the subject matter of their conference was not revealed, it is considered probable that they discussed the change of venue.

NEW YORK NIGHT CLUB OWNER SLAIN BY MEMBERS OF GANG

stood by at 3 a. m. this morning, while the two men fired at Block, described them to police as being young Jews or Italians, shabbily dressed. "You—" they shouted at Block, as they opened fire. They had followed Block and his wife into the door, and as Sullivan was about to close the elevator door, stepped up and peppered him.

The two men escaped in a sand-colored sedan, which stood waiting with a third man as a driver. J. C. Paddock, who said he was a student at the University of California, was passing by. He told police a woman hovered about as the two men ran out of the apartment, and that she rode away with them in the car.

Sullivan said he saw no woman. Block had $4,350.64 in his pockets. This did not interest the killers. Paddock, therefore, concluded the job could not have been a hold-up. He over her, night clubs, slot machines or women remained as possibilities. Block had just returned from a vacation in Hot Springs, Ark. Early in the evening he and his wife separated, she to go to a place of amusement and he to stroll up and down Broadway on business. At midnight they met at Forty-seventh street and Broadway and went to Dave's Blues Room, a night club. They remained there till 2:30. Then both started home. It was earlier than Block's usual hour for retiring. A second unusual circumstance in Block's homecoming was the fact that his sister-in-law, Dorothy Baxter, was sleeping in the apartment instead of with her parents in Brooklyn as usual.

Both women were grilled at length by detectives and the district attorney's office all day today. It was reported, however, that no ground for holding them had been established. Mrs. Block told police she was 25 years old, and finally said she had been married to Block in Philadelphia on February 6, 1924.

In the night club business Block associated with Coney Madden, Bill Duffy and Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion. Block recently visited Madden in Ossining Hospital, where he is receiving treatment for an old bullet wound. The fight racket caught detective's imagination for a while as a possible background for the slaying. Duffy and Madden were both associated in backing the campaign of Primo Carnera, Italian boxer now under the ban on charges of using weapons instead of fists to win fights.

Began as Sneak Thief.

Block had an extensive police record which showed he had begun modestly as a sneak thief the career that finally brought him to the heights of liquor and night club racketeering. Under various names he had been arrested twelve times, but was sentenced only three times.

Detectives calling at the Silver Slipper today found, stuck under the door, a telegram filed in Hollywood, Calif., from Sam Rose, Rose, apparently a former waiter in the Silver Slipper, asked Block for two weeks' salary, and said he had "just met Bill Duffy." Police said they expect to make a raid tomorrow morning. The Silver Slipper prepared to open as usual tonight. Broadway was talking about a number of checks, dated ahead, still outstanding against Block.

which they appear in the bill, namely, cement, silver, lumber, shingles, sugar, the flexible clause, Tariff Commission reorganization proposal, and lastly, the export debenture. The 11 o'clock meeting hour will be the order for the rest of the week and Republican leaders hope to complete action on the report by Saturday night.

Mr. Ramseyer said those opposing the present flexible provision because it gave the executive too much power should know that, if the debenture were applied to all farm products exported, the President would be empowered to "divert $278,741,393 of customs revenues."

Mr. Jones replied that if the debenture did not work out, the Farm Board could take it off. He suggested exporters of iron and steel enjoyed a "bounty of 25 cents per 100 pounds" from Indiana points by virtue of lower railroad freight rates.

Democrats will be minus their veteran leader, Representative Garner, of Texas, during the contest over the conference report. The Texas is suffering from an attack of influenza and while his condition was much improved yesterday his physician issued positive orders that he remain in his room several days longer and take no part in the tariff debates.

Representatives Collier, Mississippi and Crisp, Georgia, both members of the ways and means committee, will lead the minority forces. Mr. Crisp asserted yesterday that the bill was written by six men, the three Republican conferees of each house, and that all the time spent on the legislation on the floor of the Senate and House was "merely preliminary" to the work of the majority conferees.

Nineteen members of the solid Republican Pennsylvania House delegation of 36 at a caucus during the day decided to support the measure. The New York Republican delegation also met but took no definite stand. They are expected, however, to favor the bill in its final form.

Washington Woman Seeks Absolute Divorce From California Dentist.

Charging that because of her husband's continued association with other women she was forced to leave him and alleging that he is now living openly with another woman, Mrs. Nella Starr, of K street northwest near Eighteenth street, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce from Roy C. Starr, a practicing dentist, of Van Nuys, Calif.

Mrs. Starr states that she and her husband were married August 22, 1925, at Rockville, Md., and that shortly afterward she accompanied him to California. After living there for a time, she states, his association with women caused her to leave him.

She alleges that recently, since returning to the District, she received a letter from a real estate firm in San Diego, Calif., informing her that when "Dr. and Mrs. Starr" left a pent apartment they inadvertently removed "a rug belonging to the apartment." She tells the court that she was never in San Diego with her husband. Attorney Harry D. Murray appears for the wife.

In buying school furnishings, these officials had been woefully wasteful. In connection with the pending bill, he also went after the judges of the local courts. He had Bureau of Efficiency agents go into the courts and clock the number of hours the judges actually sat in court, and then he charged that they were not working hard enough.

The House judiciary subcommittee, however, yesterday disagreed with Mr. Simmons, and on the ground that the present judges are working too hard, reported out a bill to provide two additional judges.

A man of tremendous energy, Mr. Simmons probably has worked harder on the District appropriations bills than any man who ever held the chairmanship of his subcommittee. And yet there is no question but that his task has been a thankless one.

The local achievement of which he perhaps is most proud is his work toward establishing a municipal center here, an area in which will be grouped all the buildings to house the District government.

CAPITALS OF WORLD
READY TO CURB REDS

Police to Allow Peaceful
May Day Meetings, but Will Quell Riots.

NEW YORK IS OPTIMISTIC

London, April 30 (A.P.).—Preparations for toning down the reds and pinks and other clashing hues which are expected to dominate the May day celebrations throughout Europe tomorrow have been made by police and troops in the various capitals. In general the Communists, Socialists and Laborites will be permitted to march and speak as long as the meetings are orderly, but warnings have been broadcast that any disorder will be met by vigorous action.

The most peaceful of all European celebrations is expected in London, although as usual extra police will be placed on the embankment and other prominent thoroughfares.

Twenty-two Persons Expelled.

Paris police took the view that anything might happen and ordered thousands of troops and police to be under arms by daybreak. The cabinet tonight approved secret plans for protection of Paris and maintenance of order throughout the country, and authorities were confident any sizeable eruptions could be prevented.

As a preventive the French government today expelled 22 persons accused of political agitation concerning May Day activities and caused the arrest of 15 charged with inciting soldiers to disobey orders.

In preparations on the other side, the Communist organ L'Apostrophe promised a 24-hour strike of thousands of workers. It is expected that hardly any taxicabs will be running, while service by bus and street car is expected to be limited.

In Berlin the police decided to let the proletarian blow off steam as long as they are orderly, but forces of the law will be standing ready to see that the bounds of peaceful demonstration are not overstepped.

Russia Ready for Big Day.

Russia, the seat of Communism, has made plans for a big day. The streets were decorated today with red lights, flags and bunting, while tomorrow will be given over to parades, lectures and other forms of propaganda.

New York, April 30 (A.P.).—With one celebration and another, Union Square, traditional gathering place of New York's radicals, will be a busy place tomorrow, but Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen was so sure tonight that the city's May Day will be orderly that he directed the 1,000 policemen delegated to the square to go without their nightsticks.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will use the square from noon to 2 p. m. for a patriotic rally in celebration of Dewey day, following a parade from Madison Square. An hour after they have left the Communists are to take possession of the square, parading thither from another East Side square for their May Day demonstration.

Six men were arrested today for handing out or posting Communist bills calling workers to join tomorrow's rally. Spokesmen for the International Labor Defense said that more than 100 persons had been arrested this week on similar charges, mostly in the vicinity of Brooklyn factories.

Underground Rent
Sought by District

Suit for $2,178.12 Is Filed in an Effort to Collect Against Baths.

Subterranean property in Washington is valuable if a suit filed yesterday in District Supreme Court is an indication.

In the suit brought by the District against the Riggs Lafayette Baths, of 1428 G street northwest, which use vaulted space under the sidewalks and streets at that address for a Turkish bath and barber shop, it was revealed that the under-surface property is assessed now at $197,665. Three years ago the assessed value of the property was $212,870.

The District is suing to collect $2,178.12 for rent of the underground space from July 1, 1926 to March 31, 1930.

The rent is due the municipality under an act of Congress of September 1, 1916, which authorized the District Commissioners to collect rent from users of space under the sidewalks and the streets, according to the suit. The rent is based on three-tenths of 1 per cent of the assessed value of the space so used. It was brought out by Corporation Counsel William W. Brice and Assistant Corporation Counsel Chester Gray appear for the District.

Bitterness Marks
Motor Bill Clash

Representative Is Accused of Preventing Vote on Measure.

The House District committee held a stormy meeting yesterday, one marked by ill-concealed bitterness. The result was that action again was delayed on the bill to require motorists to establish their financial responsibility.

Apparently the bill had been approved by the committee, but then it was discovered that Representative Tarver (Democrat), of Georgia, had walked out, thus breaking a quorum. Bristling with anger, Representative Stalker (Republican), of New York, charged that Mr. Tarver had deliberately walked out to prevent a legal vote, and declared that it was "one of the smallest tricks" he had ever seen at the Capitol.

The committee approved a bill to exempt from taxation the national headquarters of the Society of Sons of the American Revolution.

LAMONT PREDICTS
BUSINESS REVIVAL

Makes Address at Closing
Session of Contractors'
Executive Board.

1931 MEETING IN WEST

Proclaiming his confidence in the future of American industry, Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, in an address here yesterday before the closing session of the executive board of the Associated General Contractors of America, declared that optimism is justified and that within a short time business activity should be back to normal.

For a little more than a year, he said, stability in construction has been one of the chief concerns of the business community, and that generally speaking there is now ample credit available at reasonable rates for all legitimate undertakings.

"No one seriously questions that sooner or later business will pick up and that eventually we shall see bigger construction programs than ever before," Secretary Lamont asserted. "Our people are naturally optimistic; they have faith in the fundamental soundness of our institutions and soon recover a hopeful psychology."

"The railways and other public utilities have made their splendid contribution by going ahead substantially according to schedule with the largest program on record for capital expenditures for the group as a whole," Secretary Lamont said. "The executives of these organizations have thus given the best possible evidence of their confidence in the future of American industry—a confidence which I believe has been well justified by developments, and in which I believe we may all wisely share."

In an earlier address yesterday, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, came out strongly for the prequalification of prospective bidders on Government contracts before accepting bids as the most effective agency for the elimination of unwise competition. This policy is being strongly advocated by the Associated General Contractors, and in upholding the policy Mr. MacDonald declared that there can be no competition helpful to the public that is based on a system which pits inefficient against efficient contractors.

The board received an adverse report from Frederick L. Cranford, of Brooklyn, N. Y., on the advisability of inviting the International Federation of Building and Public Works to hold its 1932 conference in the United States, and it was decided to leave the initiative in this regard to other agencies. President A. E. Horst, of Philadelphia and Rock Island, Ill., announced for the board that the next annual convention of the Associated General Contractors will be held the week of January 25, 1931, at San Francisco, Calif. Following adjournment, Mr. Horst, Edward J. Harding, assistant general manager, and a number of the board members made a personal call upon Secretary Lamont, at which they pledged their best efforts to stabilize the construction industry.

Richmond, Va., April 30 (A.P.).—The Standard Oil Co. of Virginia was permanently enjoined from operating under the name "Standard Oil" and bonded to prevent violation of the restraining order in Federal district court here today.

The order today made permanent a temporary injunction issued in 1929 on application of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. It was brought out at hearings that the New Jersey corporation had been operating in the Commonwealth since 1906, while the Virginia company commenced operations in September, 1929.

Similar petitions are being pressed in Federal courts in South Carolina and West Virginia, officials of the New Jersey company present for the hearing said.

That New Cereal

with delicious flavor, and a "VEGETABLE EFFECT"

... Let your children try it. See how they like this new creation by HEINZ of "57" fame

Probably you've heard that the exercise likely to be most beneficial is the kind people enjoy. That's true, frequently, of foods. HEINZ new, delicious Rice Flakes are a good example.

In rich, brown, crunchy, oven-toasted flakes of rice, HEINZ has included a fine, cereal-cellulose, a natural food-substance which is part of rice itself. But its volume increases four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating.

NOT BRAN

This is important:

This new food-substance isn't bran, but is soft and fluffy—not harsh or irritant in any way! High in efficiency, it forms the mildest, gentlest, natural bulk and roughage that Science has produced. HEINZ includes it through a patented process after 8 years of development and more than 60 years' experience in food making.

Think, Mother, what this means to children who don't like vegetables—here's a food they do like with a "Vegetable Effect" plus all of the usual energizing food value of rice! Don't use it to supplant vegetables, but in addition to them. See how much easier regular health-habits are developed in this new, attractive way—unique in foods!

LET CHILDREN DECIDE

We will rest our case with a jury of children on the point of flavor only! We ask merely that you make a test for one week, serving twice daily to start the benefits; once daily thereafter to maintain them. If the children aren't delighted or if their health-habits are not definitely improved, your grocer will cheerfully refund the purchase price.

But remember, no other cereal of any type provides this extraordinary feature. To get it for your children, therefore, you must insist on HEINZ Rice Flakes. Just as good for grown-ups as for children.

ASK YOUR PHYSICIAN

He will tell you of the importance of the effects of cereal-cellulose in the absorption of moisture and the resulting bulk.

DELAY ON AIRPORT MEASURE SOUGHT

Citizens Advisory Council's Aid Says There Is No
Need for Field.

TRADE UNIT BACKS PLAN

The House committee on public buildings and grounds was asked yesterday to delay action on the Bingham-Nelson municipal airport bill until the next session.

The request was made by Charles I. Stengle, of the Citizens Advisory Council, who said he spoke on behalf of 40,000 taxpayers in the District.

The bill authorizes a Federal loan to the District of $2,500,000, the money to be used in establishing a municipal airport near the south end of Highway Bridge.

Mr. Stengle contended that there was no need for a municipal airport. If commercial firms need an airport, he said, then it should be financed by private interests.

Lawrence Williams, chairman of the aviation committee of the Board of Trade, took issue with Mr. Stengle, asserting that there is in fact a big need for a municipal airport here. And the taxpayers in his organization, he said, are willing to do their share to pay for one.

Lieut. Walter I. Hinton, chairman of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, filed a brief with the committee in which he opposed the Bingham-Nelson bill. Representative Elliott (Republican), of Indiana, chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds, cited a new argument against the Bingham-Nelson bill. Under the provisions of the Crampton park bill, he declared, the very land which it now is proposed to use for an airport is destined to become a part of the George Washington Memorial Parkway.

PAINTING REVEALED AS GENUINE TITIAN

Havemeyer home. His suspicions were based upon the technique he noted in the artist's treatment of the subject's hand, the only object on the canvas which had escaped the over-painter's brush.

When the Havemeyer sale was announced, he reported his belief to the institute directors and was authorized to bid as high as $4,000 for the painting.

Bidding stopped at $400, however, and for that sum the institute added a masterpiece to its collection.

The painting is of the Doge Girolamo Priuli, who was elected doge in 1559. Another portrait of the doge in the Palace of the Doges at Venice, later by Jacob Palma, the younger, has verified the identity of the latter.

The painting whose true identity has just been revealed was formerly in the collection of the Duchesse de Berry, daughter-in-law of Charles X, King of France, who at one time owned one of the finest collections in the world. While in her possession it was always called a Titian.

There is no record of the migrations of the masterpiece from the time it left that collection, probably around 1830, until it appeared in the Havemeyer collection in New York in the late nineteenth century, attributed to the "school of Titian."

More Officers Arrested $625,000 Expenditure

North Bergen, N. J., April 30 (A.P.).—Seven more township officials were arrested today on charges of misfeasance in office, bringing to fourteen the number under charges in connection with the alleged illegal expenditure of $615,000 in township funds.

Among those under arrest are Mayor Charles J. Morris, Treasurer Harry Jager, Clerk Edward Ryan and four of the six township committeemen. They are all Democrats. The warrants were issued on complaint of Robert Sanwald, a Republican, who posted a bond to guarantee the expenses of the investigation.

Suburb of Cleveland Has 600 Per Cent Gain

Cleveland, Ohio, April 30 (A.P.).—Garfield Heights, a Cleveland suburb, today held the distinction of being the fastest growing city in the United States, according to the partly completed national census. The suburb had a population of 2,550 in 1920. It now has 15,575, an increase of 600 per cent.

The growth came from a steady influx of new citizens rather than through any industrial or promotional development.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

A MATTER of grave import comes before this column. Arising in the Senate on Tuesday, Senator Goldsborough, of Maryland, read an editorial from the Baltimore Sun, saying that the lamentable fact about all this Parker business was not the attack being made upon him, but that no one could say with assurance that he was an outstanding jurist, one who would add luster to the Supreme Court.

Concluding the reading of this editorial, the senator then produced a letter from three lawyers extolling Judge Parker's ability to the sky. "And, Mr. President," he continued, "these men were and it is my impression that they still are, the lawyers for the Baltimore Sun."

It was quite apparent from Senator Goldsborough's manner and tone and from his tone that this ended the discussion about Judge Parker, that he should forthwith be confirmed.

With that it is not the business of this column to quarrel.

There is, however, a matter presented by his statement of far graver import. It is a matter, indeed, that, as Senator Borah would say, strikes at the root of—well, it strikes at the root of something.

And that is the very broad implication in Senator Goldsborough's remarks that a newspaper is responsible for its lawyers.

COMMISSIONER CROSBY NAMES VARNEY SPECIAL POLICE AID

ment, but there never has been any minor police officer designated by a District Commissioner as his personal aid in the administration of the department.

Although holding the rank of detective sergeant, with increased compensation of $600 a year, Sgt. Varney's official rank in the department is a private. In that respect he has the same status as the other detective sergeants assigned to the Detective Bureau, who have the title and higher pay only so long as they are assigned to headquarters detective work.

Sgt. Varney, it was said, will continue to hold his present rank.

Selection of the Commissioner's new police aid was decided on because he is reputed not to be identified with any of the reported cliques in the department, it was said. He was not known to Gen. Crosby until he went to the Commissioner's office, under orders from Maj. Pratt, for his first interview a day or two ago.

Sgt. Varney is president of the Policemen's Association.

Crosby Explains Decision.

Gen. Crosby, although willing enough to discuss his departure from the path of former police administration, was anxious that his action be not misinterpreted.

"I am very anxious that whatever is said about the matter does not give the public an erroneous impression," Gen. Crosby said. "It certainly is not to be construed as a reflection in any way on Maj. Pratt."

"The situation simply is this: I want some one, who shall be directly under my personal orders, to whom I can assign a complaint or a report for investigation. I want some one who is independent of any group or clique in the department. Such an independent investigation will leave me in a much better position to deal with complaints than if I relied solely on the usual reports made through the routine channels of the department by men who, of necessity, have a personal interest in the outcome."

Needless Complaints Unwelcome.

The appointment, Gen. Crosby said, should not be taken by the public as an invitation to flood him with unjustified complaints and whispers against the police department.

Saying that he had not had time to get his feet on the ground so far as police administration is concerned, Gen. Crosby plans to have Sgt. Varney play the role of his teacher. The Commissioner expects soon to make his first tour of inspection of the police precinct stations and bureaus and as soon as he gets his daily routine on a basis which will permit it, he plans to make frequent inspection visits to the stations. For a time, at least, Gen. Crosby is expected to lean on Sgt. Varney's experience as a policeman to post him as to what to look for on these inspection tours.

Sgt. Varney is popular among the personnel of the police department. Although not the youngest man in the detective bureau in experience, he is not old in years.

PLANTED 3,000 TREES

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas; Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. W. Dunlap and Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d joined in praising the late William Saunders, veteran horticulturist, at a meeting of Potomac Orange No. 1 in All Souls Church last night.

Mr. Saunders was a pioneer organizer and first master of the National Orange, Patrons of Husbandry. He was also superintendent of the horticultural grounds of the Department of Agriculture.

During the administration of former Senator Alexander R. Shepherd, Mr. Saunders, as a member of the Park Commission, superintended the planting of more than 3,000 trees in the city.

Speakers at the William Saunders Day meeting last night reviewed Mr. Saunders' contributions to horticulture and agriculture, and characterized him as the foremost landscape gardener of his day.

F. L. Mulford, in charge of horticultural and landscape gardening investigations for the department, spoke of Mr. Saunders' work in connection with street and park beautification, and the establishment of policies that he said were being followed in many cities of the United States.

Mr. Saunders was born at St. Andrews, Scotland, December 7, 1822. He lived in Washington 38 years.

speed boats that they would restrict speed of their craft in narrow channels.

The question was brought up again at this time by Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and public parks, who asked if District authorities did not have legal power to control the speed of craft in narrow channels. Corporation Counsel William W. Brice several months ago expressed the opinion that there is ample authority to enforce any reasonable speed limit which might be fixed by the Commissioners and the recommendation of Maj. Pratt submitted yesterday quoted that opinion.

The wash of speeding craft, it is complained, damages other craft at anchor, as well as smaller boats on shore and interferes with progress of the river improvement work being done by low-lying dredges and barges.

The speed limit recommended by Maj. Pratt would be in land miles an hour and violations of the regulations would be punishable by a fine of not more than $300 or imprisonment for not more than 90 days.

Anderson is said to have held important positions in the Decker, Ingraham & Smith Manufacturing Co. and the Elton Co., two firms named in the Cincinnati indictments. Anderson was held in $15,000 bail.

Fete Planned In Georgetown On Garden Day

May 14 Designated for Viewing Residences of That Section.

By JEAN ELMOT.

WHILE many Washingtonians are making pilgrimages this week to historic Virginia gardens, plans are being perfected for Georgetown's own "Garden Day." The date selected is Wednesday, May 14, but in case of rain the tour will be postponed to the following day. It is being arranged under auspices of the Georgetown Child Welfare Council, the proceeds to be used for the work of this organization.

Many charming old gardens not displayed last year will be open to the public, as will most of those whose charms have become familiar to visitors.

Senator Millard F. Tydings will show the garden of his pleasant Georgetown home. Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick and Representative Ruth Baker Pratt will open their gardens to visitors, as will Representative and Mrs. Charles R. Eaton, who are living at Bellevue. This beautiful old house has been purchased by the Colonial Dames of America and will eventually be used as its national headquarters, but for the present it is leased to Mr. and Mrs. Eaton.

Representative Pratt makes her home at Evermay, one of the finest places in Georgetown, which has been a center of hospitality since colonial days. It belongs to Mr. and Mrs. F. Lamont Bell, who restored the old mansion with discriminating taste and lavish expenditure and who developed its wonderful gardens. They are now abroad. Mr. Bell being in the foreign service.

Representative McCormick recently purchased three old-time Georgetown houses, threw them together into one charming residence and has already developed the fine old garden in which the house is set. The garden of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt's residence—new to her, but a charming old house—will also be on view. Other residences of Georgetown who will show their gardens are Mrs. Frank West, Maj. and Mrs. Harry Leonard, Rear Admiral and Mrs. H. H. Rousseau, Mrs. Herman Hollerith, Mrs. E. R. Finkenstein, Mrs. A. Blair Thaw, Mrs. Frank S. Bright, Mrs. John Thrider, Miss Bentley, Miss Madeline McCandless, Mrs. F. Whitehead, Mrs. B. H. Meyer, Miss Bertha Looker, Miss Catherine Weaver, Mrs. C. Warder, Mrs. Macartney, whose home is at Foxhall, and Miss Frances Sortwell, who is chairman of the committee in charge.

The pilgrimage may also be prolonged to take in Mrs. Anne Archibald's beautiful estate, which is not in Georgetown proper, but on the heights beyond, overlooking the Potomac.

Tickets, with a complete list of the gardens to be visited, will be on sale at each of the gardens on the day of the tour. By way of an "extra added attraction" there will be an exhibition in the home of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, of the work of Mabel Hunt Johnson, painter of gardens and hostesses. Mrs. Johnson has exhibited in Philadelphia and Washington but not before in Washington.

Mrs. Edward E. Gann Is Luncheon Guest.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann is the guest in whose honor Mrs. Arthur Turrell will entertain at luncheon today.

The Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara will return today from a few days' absence in New York and Richmond.

The Minister of Colombia, Dr. Enrique Olaya, has returned to Washington from a stay of several months in Colombia and will remain here for two months. Senora de Olaya, who has been in Baltimore, will rejoin the minister some time in May. On June 4 Dr. Olaya may officially assume the title of President-elect of Colombia, "on that day his election will be formally proclaimed. He will be inaugurated in August.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Hyde have as guests Mr. Hyde's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence M. Hyde, of Princeton.

Mr. Bliss Plans Stay In London and Continent.

The Ambassador to Argentina, Mr. Robert Woods Bliss, who sailed recently on the Berengaria for Europe, is in London where he will pass a week, going later to the continent. He will return to Buenos Aires when the new embassy there is completed.

Corps Doyenne Entertains at Embassy Fete

Senora de Tellez Has Large Guest Group

Making what might be called her official debut in the role of doyen of the diplomatic corps, Senora de Tellez, wife of the Ambassador of Mexico, was hostess yesterday at a delightful reception. The great windows of the embassy drawing rooms were open to the warm spring air and there was dancing to beguiling music on the roof garden atop the chancery, which had tables set about, where animated groups foregathered to chat and smoke between dances.

To celebrate the first really spring-like weather, the feminine guests had blossomed out in garden party frocks, gaily printed chiffons and delicately tinted laces, worn with picture hats, which gave a colorful aspect to the brilliant assemblage. The hostess had chosen a graceful gown of flat crepe in a new shade of apricot. It was made with normal waistline defined and with a long skirt fitted tightly over the hips and flaring at the hem. A graceful little cape fell over the shoulders to give the effect of elbow length sleeves. Senora de Tellez received alone, but the Ambassador was present, moving about among the guests to extend friendly greetings.

Mrs. James J. Davis, wearing a printed chiffon gown, in which blue and rose were mingled, and a smart blue hat, presided over the coffee urn for part of the afternoon. Others who poured tea or coffee during the course of the afternoon were Senora de Alfaro, Senora de Diaz de Medina, Mrs. Harlan Pike Stone, Mrs. Fred A. Britten, Mrs. Sol Bloom, Mrs. Charles B. Drake, Mrs. Parker W. West and Senora de Campos-Ortiz, wife of the first secretary of the embassy.

The long tea table was decked with rose and blue lilies and other spring flowers arranged in tall carved silver vases, with matching silver candelabra bearing lighted tapers. The punch bowl in the conservatory, which boasts a fine collection of Mexican cactus, was another focal point through the afternoon. Mexican tamales were also served.

Guests noted at this pleasant fete were the Ambassador of Brazil, Senor S. Gurgel do Amaral, the Ambassador of Spain and Senora de Padilla, the Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila, the Ambassador of Turkey, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar, with M. and Mme. Bedy, of Uruguay, Senor Jacobo Varela, the Minister of Greece and Mme. Simopoulos, the Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter, the Minister of Austria and Mme. Prochuk, Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, who was accompanied by her guest, Mrs. Laurence Hyde.

Justice Harlan Pike Stone came in late, accompanying Mrs. Stone on her departure. Others present were Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Sumner, Judge and Mrs. Samuel Jordan Graham, who were busy telling their friends of "Whozy?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.

1. He was an Englishman who lived during the latter Seventeenth and the first half of the eighteenth centuries.
2. He was a famous gambler.
3. Under his management the watering place at Bath became a famous and fashionable resort.
4. For many years he was prosperous but an act of Parliament suppressing gambling impoverished him in his old age.

Lindbergh Pays Call On Panama Governor

Colon, Panama, April 30 (A.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made a flight to Panama City today to pay his respects to Gov. Henry Burgess and American officers there and then returned to Cristobal on the Atlantic side, landing at 4 p. m.

The Colon dispatches telling of the round-trip flight across the isthmus today by Col. Lindbergh dispelled rumors that he had met with an accident. These rumors were circulated widely on Wednesday afternoon. Their origin was obscure, but they paralleled similar reports which have marked other unannounced flights by the famous aviator.

No other piece of equipment in your home will save you so much money, and go on saving it every day you live. If you had to borrow the cash to buy Electrolux and pay interest on it, you'd still come out ahead on what this marvelous refrigerator saves you.

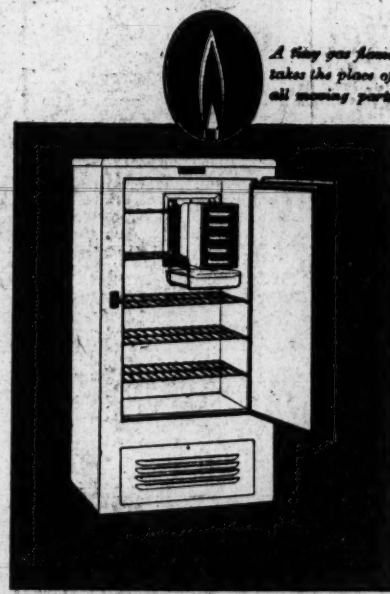

Liberal purchase terms

But you won't have to borrow. Purchase terms are so liberal that almost any home with a steady income can own an Electrolux. Prices range from $220 to $455 installed—about the same, size for size, as those of other automatic refrigerators.

And not only is Electrolux the world's most economical refrigeration system, but also the simplest, safest and most dependable.

Electrolux is absolutely silent, not merely quiet. There is no noise at all as long as you have it. And you should have it indefinitely, for there are no moving parts, no machinery, and hence no friction, no vibration or wear.

A tiny gas flame and a slight trickle of water do all the work. They circulate the refrigerant that makes the cold. No power is needed to turn machinery, because there is no machinery. That is why the operating cost can be so unbelievably low. The cost of the gas and water used is very small compared to the cost of power required to turn machinery.

The refrigerant is hermetically sealed for life inside a rigid one-piece steel unit.

QUICK FACTS!

1. Permanently noiseless.
2. Absolutely safe.
3. Only a few cents a day to operate.
4. Lasts indefinitely.
5. No mechanism to wear, to vibrate, to need oil.
6. Free from trouble.
7. Perpetual, steady cold.
8. Plenty of pure ice cubes.
9. Tested and endorsed by national authorities.

It never needs renewal. Even the gas flame is safeguarded by an automatic shut-off. Should the flame, by any chance, go out, the gas shuts off. And it stays off until you turn it on again.

Constant, steady cold

The cold in Electrolux is constant. There is no stopping and starting. The temperature never varies more than a degree or two from the ideal point. Ice cubes freeze in a jiffy; and as for frozen desserts, chilled salads, ices, jellies, you can make all you want of them.

Highlights of the War

As Related by Veterans Themselves

A Highlight of 1900

Although Manila fell on August 13, 1898, with the Spanish garrisons capitulating with but a feeble show of resistance, it was three years later before Emilio Aguinaldo, commander in chief of the insurrection, was captured. Gen. Aguinaldo was the active head of the Katipunan Society, a secret order dedicated to freedom and sworn to resist to the death in the invasion of the American Army.

In 1901 we had over 70,000 troops in the archipelago. Despite their most patient and valiant efforts, Aguinaldo, who weaved a mystic spell over his followers, dodged their cordons, out-guessed their ablest scouts and played peekaboo with the illustrious officers of the high command. At division and departmental headquarters gallant generals beat their breasts, mumbled pious prayers and swore eloquently, for while the Filipino chieftain was reported in Malolos, in Cagayan, in Tayabas, in Cavite and in a dozen other towns, he was elusive, wraith-like and inaccessible.

The cables from Washington, signed "Elihu Root, Secretary of War," urged, pleaded and implored the commanders to "capture Aguinaldo at all hazards" and to spare neither expense nor men to this end.

President Theodore Roosevelt, himself an impetuous soldier and a tireless fighter, could not understand why the great army in the field did not spy out Aguinaldo's hiding place. The army had confiscated the only railroad system in the islands, the Manila-Dagupan Railway; it utilized speedy vessels of the Coast Guard; it had several transport ships, scores of freighters, horses, unlimited money and thousands of keen, alert and willing troops; yet for almost three years it had failed to catch up with or even get close to the insurrectionary commander. Curious questions were being asked in Congress. Anti-imperialistic societies, peace organizations and many newspapers peered toward the Philippines with perplexity and pain.

And justly illustrious officers—captains, majors, colonels and generals—sighed and swore, but somehow Don Emilio Aguinaldo outwitted them. When the generals commanding the American troops had given up hope of the efficacy of intense and prayer while Roosevelt was raving and Root roared as cables burned, and Gen. Arthur MacArthur, division commander, haughtily hid his grief within a lightning bolt crashed to dispel the gloom. On February 4, 1901, a band of insurgents, footsore, hungry and weary of the rigors of a wildcat war, surrendered to Lieut. J. D. Taylor, Twenty-fourth U. S. Infantry, at Pantabangan. They were bearing messages from Aguinaldo's headquarters to several leaders in Luzon. They were fed up on the ragged-edged rebellion. They were sick in body and soul.

Col. Frederick Funston, of the Twentieth Kansas, was in command of the area, where the band surrendered. With consummate daring and extraordinary skill he at once formulated a desperate plan to herd the lion in his den. Realizing the futility of disguising his own troops and knowing from the letters found on the messengers that Aguinaldo was expecting reinforcements, he decided to boldly march on the chieftain's stronghold under false colors. According to Col. Funston became a captive soldier. Capt. Harry W. Newton, Thirty-fourth U. S. Volunteer Infantry; Capt. R. T. Hazard and his brother, Lieut. O. P. Hazard, Eleventh U. S. Volunteer Infantry, and his aid, Lieut. B. J. Mitchell, decked in dirty, ill-fitting private's tog, assumed the role of prisoners. Company "D," of the First Battalion of Macabebes Scouts, was selected to play the heroic part. Of the hundred men in this company, about 80 could converse in Tagalog.

the speech of the soldiers in Aguinaldo's command. They were relieved of their regulation uniforms and arms and substituted old, worn and ragged garments of odd sizes. They were armed with Mausers and Remingtons, the types ordinarily used by the insurrectionists. After being laboriously schooled in their parts until they became proficient and confident, they set out upon one of the most daring and damnable exploits in military annals.

When the 5 "prisoners" and the 84 "patrols" reached Aguinaldo's capital the dictator's hand exuded some stirring and sonorous music. A squad of 90 of the chieftain's guard was drawn up to welcome the visitors. Seven staff officers, gaudily arrayed and heavily armed, surrounded the commander in chief. At the prearranged cue, "Give it to them," a volley rang out, killing 2 of the escort and wounding the leader of Aguinaldo's band, 2 members of his staff and the treasurer of the Filipino republic. Aguinaldo realized the purpose of the visit, he was seized by Col. Funston's interpreter, who sat upon his chest, crying:

"You are a prisoner of the Americans."

Aguinaldo is, and on that fateful day was a small man weighing a trifle over 100 pounds. His captor, Funston's pal, was tall, extremely fat and powerful.

As he sat on Aguinaldo's chest, instantly "winning" the head of the republic, the glory of government ebbed as he almost strangled.

Thus it came about that through the fading of false colors the backbone of the insurrection was broken, and Frederick Funston, through sheer daring, brought about the collapse of the organized insurrection.

As a reward for his valor Funston was made a brigadier general on April 1, 1901. He became major general November 18, 1914. He died February 18, 1917, at San Antonio, Tex., while commanding the Southern Department.

Two weeks ago Congress voted his widow an annual pension of $8,000.

Frederick Funston was a real soldier, a natural-born fighter, fool.

SHOUSE CLAIMS GAIN OF 40 HOUSE SEATS

Democratic Chief Declares Party Will Also Elect Six More Senators.

SEES NEW YORK LEADERS

New York, April 30 (A.P.).—Celebrating the first anniversary of his appointment as chairman of the national executive committee of the Democratic party, J. P. J. Shouse, of Kansas, came to town today for a short visit, predicting his party will win at least 40 seats in the next House of Representatives and six in the Senate.

"Put it down in your book now," he said. "We will add at least 40 seats—and I think probably more than 80—in the next House and we are going to annex six, possibly seven or eight, Senate seats."

Fresh from a swing around the country conferring with Democratic leaders, Mr. Shouse said that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Owen D. Young, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Newton D. Baker and Senator Joseph R. Robinson were the leading men being discussed by Democrats for the 1932 Presidential nomination.

"There is a lot of talk about Franklin Roosevelt," Mr. Shouse said. "The Democratic leaders all over the country like him and think he has done a fine job. Also they are talking a lot about Owen D. Young."

Smith is greatly beloved by Democrats, as he is tremendously admired for his courage and ability. The West is shouting that Newton D. Baker is the man. . . . He (Senator Robinson) is a big man with a great following in the rank and file of the party."

Prohibition, the Democratic executive believes, is hurting the Republican party more than it is the Democrats. Mr. Shouse says serious-minded people everywhere are beginning to recognize that something is wrong with present conditions and that something must be done. What that is he didn't say.

Mr. Shouse said that the Middle West was in revolt against the Hoover administration. "The farm relief program is a bust," he said. "The only ones now more bitter than the farmers are the grain dealers."

He said the main purpose of his visit to New York was to confer with Gov. Roosevelt, who left today for Warm Springs, Ga., for former Gov. Smith and other party leaders here. He said his visit here at this time, immediately after Senator Burton K. Wheeler had brought Gov. Roosevelt forward as a presidential possibility in 1932, had no special significance.

Court Withholds Mine Chief Verdict

Contempt Issue Is Put Off Until Final Hearing on May 18.

Springfield, Ill., April 30 (A.P.).—The Sangamon County Circuit Court today declined to determine at this time whether John L. Lewis, president of the old-line party of the United Mine Workers of America, and his associates, are guilty of contempt of court.

The court ruled, in connection with Mr. Lewis' alleged violation of injunction obtained by State President Harry F. Plawick and other opponents of Mr. Lewis, that it could not pass on the contempt issue until a complete hearing had been held. May 18 was set for a final hearing.

Under the injunction Mr. Lewis was restrained from interfering with the activities of the Illinois district of the miners. When called today to answer charges that he had disregarded the restraining order, Mr. Lewis, through his attorneys, informed the three judges of the court that he was of the opinion that the injunction had lost its effect when the Illinois miners deserted the union and formed a dual organization. The dual group, to which he referred was organized here during the week of March 10 under the title of the United Mine Workers of America.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BEIL

WITH the open road, the amusement parks, the river excursions and all the other lures of the great outdoors about to offer what is supposed to be stiff competition, the local Fox Theater refuses to concede the existence of any such thing as the old bugaboo of the summer slump.

The F street cathedral already is getting its cooling system completely checked up by the engineers who installed it and put in first-class order to begin functioning at the first flare of blazing heat. At the moment, however, perhaps the line-up of incoming attractions—on which profitable patronage, after all, will principally depend—is more important.

It seems that there will be no holding the good ones back until fall, as used to be the crafty old Spanish custom. Following next week's presentation of "Temple Tower" will come El Brendel, the Swedish comic of "The Cock-Eyed World," and "Hot for Paris" with Marjorie White, Jack Mulhall, Sue Carol, Richard Keene and Paul Page in "The Golden Call"—not meaning a pagan idol, either, if you must know.

Then, not necessarily in the order named, will come: Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell, supported by Louise Fazenda, Lucien Littlefield, William Collier, Jr., Hedda Hopper and Joyce Compton, in "High Society Blues."

A dramatic production, bearing the title of "Three Sisters," with Louise Dresser and Tom Patricola.

The second edition of the "Fox Movie-tone Poll," with an all-star cast.

Will Rogers and Irene Rich in a successor to "They Had to See Paris," which bears the name "So This Is London."

While these screen offerings are occupying the silver sheet, the stage will be enlivened by a new series of Fanchon and Marco "Ideas," with Alexander Callan continuing under a new long-term contract, just signed, as Mr. C.

Well, let's get going!

As long as titles are being listed, it may be interesting to know that next week will bring these to the local west-run house, Rialto, Paul Whiteman and his band, John Boles and the Sisters G in "King of Jazz," all-Technicolor revue, opening today; Metropolitan, Winnie Lightner, Joe E. Brown and Georges Carpentier in "Hold Everything"; Palace, Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Jean Arthur in "You're Kidding"; Fox, Kenneth MacKenna, Marceline Day and Henry B. Walthall in "Temple Tower"; Earle, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Regis Toomey and Harry Green in Zane Grey's "The Light of Western Stars"; Columbia, Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagel and Chester Morris in "The Divorcee"; RKO-Keith's, "Ingagi," African adventure picture, second week.

Bear in mind that the Rialto's new bill begins today, the Metropolitan and Earle's tomorrow and the rest Saturday.

Congratulations are extended today to Miss Irene Weber, general secretary of the Fox Theater executive staff, upon the celebration of her don't-you-wish-you-knew birthday. As a sop to your curiosity, if any, I may say that there will not be enough candles on the cake to cause anyone to be overcome by the heat—if there is a cake!

In connection with the premiere at the Rialto today of "King of Jazz," reliably reported to be the most extraordinary of the all-color revues so far produced, it is interesting for those who "knew him when" to hark back to the days when Paul Whiteman—now said to be in his second or third million—wasn't clicking so well.

Paul Whiteman was literally born with a violin in his hand. His father, W. J. Whiteman, was director of musical education in Denver, Colo., public schools for 30 years. His mother sang in oratorio and Denver choirs.

When Paul was 3 years old, his Dad gave him his first instruction on the fiddle. At 17 he was chief viola player in the Denver Symphony Orchestra.

Just about then "ragtime" hit the world and in 1915 Paul left Denver for San Francisco to play in the World's Fair Orchestra and Minnie's String Quartet. After the exposition, he secured an engagement at Tait's, then the most popular eating place in Frisco. Strange as it may seem, he lost this job because he wasn't quite "hot."

Enough to hold it. Can you imagine! After the Alexandria Hotel in Los Angeles, Paul and his band arrived at the Ambassador in Atlantic City and it was then he began to go somewhere. But not all in a minute, at that. For a long time no one gave Paul Whiteman's Ambassador Orchestra a tumble. Then one night somebody did.

And NOW look at him!

A friendly visit has just apprised me that Leon Victor, another of the boys who, like Allan Glenn, has two first names, is in town for a week, looking after the interests of "Ingagi," the monkey business current at RKO-Keith's. The blighter owns a piece of the show and, with all the money it's making, I hope he hasn't forgotten that I'm his partner!

One of those better places where I hope I'll be seeing you around is the N. Y. A. Benefit at the Fox tomorrow night at 11:30.

And bring along the pocketbook, we may want to eat!

Then, not necessarily in the order named, will come:

LACK OF BAROGRAPH COSTS GLIDER MARK

Jack Barstow Remains Aloft 15 Hours 13 Minutes for Unofficial Record.

PLANS TO REPEAT TRIAL

San Diego, Calif., April 30 (A.P.).—Failure to provide himself with a barograph today robbed Jack Barstow, 24, of a new official world's record for sustained flight in a glider after he had soared over Point Loma for 15 hours and 13 minutes in a motorless sail plane, exceeding all previous glider endurance marks. Barstow's remarkable performance will stand only as an unofficial record because of the rules requiring that a barograph be installed in aircraft in order to gain official acceptance of new records.

The young glider expert announced, however, that if wind conditions are favorable, he plans to take the air again soon, this time with a barograph, and attempt to set a new official mark.

Barstow took off at 12:44 p. m., Pacific Coast time, yesterday in a new Bowius seaplane of 60-foot spread. He landed at 3:37 a. m., Pacific Coast time, today, setting his powerless craft down within 500 meters of his point of takeoff. The records exceeded all.

Official American, 9 hours 5 minutes 32.5 seconds, established in March this year over Point Loma by Hawley Bowlus, of San Diego. Official world, 14 hours 10 minutes, established two years ago by Ray Schultze, in Germany.

Unofficial world, 14 hours 45 minutes, established several months ago by Lieut. Dietrich, German glider pilot. William Van Dusen, representing the National Aeronautical Association, witnessed the flight and was present when Barstow landed. Although the absence of a barograph cost Barstow the title to an official record, steps were being taken today by Van Dusen to secure statements and affidavits from those who witnessed the flight so that Barstow's feat may be certified for its historical interest. Barstow came to San Diego six months ago from Charlotte, Mich. He holds a first-class license as a glider pilot.

Retired Army Officer Surrendered to Court

James G. Howard, said to be a retired Army major, was surrendered in Police Court yesterday by Milton S. Kronheim, professional bondsman, surety on the man's $200 bond on a bad check charge. Howard was scheduled for trial by jury Tuesday on the charge but failed to appear.

Mr. Kronheim immediately began a search for the man, and having failed to locate him, was preparing to report the matter to Judge Isaac R. Pitt, when he encountered his client. His surrender of the man and relief from the bond followed.

MAY 1, 1905.

The annual spring tournament of the Columbia Country Club was brought to a close. Eight of the nine trophies were won by members of the club. The winners were, the Governor's Cup, L. L. Harban; runner up, A. S. Mattingly; consolation, Sidney Maddock, of the Palm Beach Club; runner up, George A. Weaver; second consolation, F. E. Sullivan; runner up, Benjamin Woodruff; qualification, L. L. Harban; handicap gross, A. S. Mattingly, and handicap net, D. K. Jackson.

The eleventh annual meeting of the American Society of Superintendents of Training Schools for nurses will begin at the Shoreham Hotel today.

Baseball notes—Jimmy Barrett is out of the game with a twisted knee. Stahl is leading the team runner up, George A. Weaver, in base stealing. Dick Cooley, the actor-ball player, now with Detroit, has not found his batting eye. He still has that footlight stare.

War Department Says Car Toll Exceeds Battle Dead

Indicating that Battling Mars is a puny menace when stacked up with Tricky Traffic, the War Department released statistics yesterday showing that the number of Washingtonians who died in the World War is considerably less than the toll exacted by automobiles over a corresponding period of peace.

The department's press release evoked considerable discussion and speculation, and some facetiously inclined individuals were led to suggest that the talent of world peace promoters be turned toward outlawing, or at least limiting, the use of automobiles.

Modern engines of destruction on the battlefield are not nearly as efficient killers as taxis and flivvers, the department's figures reveal, and it might be judged from the tone of the tale that the man who runs the barrage of demon drivers on Pennsylvania avenue is more worthy of medals and palms than the dough-boy who dodged such comparatively harmless little missiles as machine gun slugs and Big Bertha shells.

"Grim-visaged war reaped a toll of 102 Washingtonians during the nineteen months we engaged in the World War," the department "handout" reads. "These were battle deaths and deaths from wounds. The monthly average was 5.4. Twenty officers were killed in action and six died of wounds. Fifty-nine enlisted men were killed in action and seventeen died of wounds."

As a destroyer of life, the automobile is more efficient by far, as is shown by the District of Columbia Health Department's report. In 1928, 115 Washingtonians were killed by motor vehicles. The average monthly harvest was 9.6, as compared to the 5.4 credited to the god of war.

War Department officials denied that the release was intended either to popularize war as a comparatively safe sport, or to spur the powers that be to stricter enforcement of traffic regulations. "They stick to their claim that there was 'no ulterior motive.'"

One officer said that casualties from automobiles in this country were "terrific," but failed to get the spotlight focused on the horrors of war. "Looking at comparative figures," he added, "war doesn't seem to be such a bad thing."

Figures showing the automobile and war casualties in each State were forwarded to all Army corps areas, in order that similar press releases might be issued in various parts of the Nation.

Bankrupt Company Offers to Settle

Court Advised Plumbing Firm Ready to Compose $95,000 Debts.

The Cunningham Plumbing Supply Co., Inc., which recently was adjudged an involuntary bankrupt yesterday advised the District Supreme Court that it has offered to compose its debts on a basis of 50 cents on the dollar. It is explained that, if agreeable to the court, all creditors will be paid 40 cents in cash immediately and 10 per cent within 90 days the latter to be secured by promissory notes.

Approximately $95,000 in cash will be required to liquidate the firm's indebtedness, the petition points out and it is requested that the court name a bank in which to deposit the fund until the court sanctions the proposal and its terms can be carried out.

The petition specifies that in return for the 50 per cent settlement the company and U. G. Cunningham and P. J. Hanlon, indorsers of some notes payable of the company, are to be released from all liabilities to unsecured creditors.

"I want the pictures on the wall, the curtains. I want that suite of furniture, the rugs... and do you sell wall paper?"

This was heard in "Home Sweet Home," a customer doing the talking. One of our Interior Decorators the listening. One of the bedrooms the subject.

We sold her everything but the wall paper.

We don't carry wall paper.

When next seen the two were near the 7 Furnished Rooms. This time it was the dining room the customer wanted. "I want everything in that, too," she exclaimed. "I want my dining room arranged just as you have this one." She got what she wanted.

And the story ends with the moral: To do a good job of decorating your own home consult with The Hecht Co.'s Interior Decorating Staff. Here to help, to suggest, to advise, to estimate. Doing it all cheerfully... and at no cost whatsoever.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

CAPTAINS of industry, many of whom are themselves public speakers, listening to President Hoover at the National Chamber of Commerce meeting tonight (WRC-WMAL, 9:30 p. m.), may pick up a pointer by observing the little contrivance he uses to read his speech from.

The invention of Col. Ed. Starling, of the White House Secret Service, is not only relieving the President of the worry of misplacing his speech in the wrong pocket at the last minute but is so inconspicuous that the President stands behind the microphone the unsatisfied would never suspect that he was reading the speech.

Merle Thorpe will graham-mcnamee the Chamber of Commerce meeting.

BY GRIGSBY, of Chicago, one of the leaders of the independent radio industry, in its conflict with the Radio Corporation, had a talk with President Hoover at the White House yesterday.

It is understood Mr. Grigsby discussed the investigation which the Justice Department is making of the relations of the R. C. A. to the General Electric, Westinghouse and the A. T. & T.

Although too early to predict with any degree of accuracy, it looks as if Senators Dill, of Washington, and Wheeler, of Montana, had picked the radio monopoly issue as one of the horses to ride into the Vice Presidency, which they are reported to have their eye on.

Up to this time Senator Dill has had a sort of copyright on radio in the Senate; but judging from Senator Wheeler's Chicago speech, it evidently looks good to him also.

"He who controls radio," the senator said at Chicago, "controls the government more absolutely than any monarch."

MARIA KUREPKO, Russian soprano, came to the radio audience highly recommended but what fell there was not her countrymen, when she inflicted upon them that old chestnut "The Song of India."

We've long suspected that some of these canaries which sing so beautifully over the radio always at exactly the right time were phoney.

This belief was strengthened the other night when a bunch of them were apparently singing their heads off during an organ recital at 11:30 p. m.

ATTER what he has done to some of the listeners, they will doubtless have less hope that Dr. Sterling V. Meade, president of the Washington Dental Association, will at least suffer from microphone fright when he broadcasts this afternoon (WMAL-5 p. m.).

Tito Schipa, leading tenor of the Chicago Opera Company (WRC tonight 9 o'clock), at the request of Mussolini, sang in Rome during the festivities attending the marriage of Crown Prince Umberto to the Belgian Princess Marie Jose.

The new broadcasting schedule for WJW begins today. The morning program with the exception of Sunday starts at 9 a. m. and is concluded at 1 p. m. The program for the afternoon begins at 2 p. m. and continues until the sign-off at 11 o'clock at night.

It still looks as if WRC may broadcast the local games when the baseball team goes out of town, but no definite decision has been reached.

In this connection William Brown, a Post reporter, of 212 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, asks:

"Why don't the non-fans who kick about the baseball games being broadcast by more than one local station, kick when more than one station puts on bands at the same time?"

The first baseball game to be played at night under artificial lights will take place tomorrow night when Des Moines plays Wichita at the former city and will be broadcast. (WRC-11 p. m.).

A novelty is about to be put on the market, a combination radio, phonograph and home sound moving picture projection machine, according to reports from New York.

It will be priced at from $250 to $500, including everything but the films, which may be rented.

JERSEY listeners will get an earful from Dwight W. Morrow, who will start off his senatorial campaign with a broadcast of 10 speeches over WOR, Newark—one a day.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"Taurus." If May 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. from noon to 2 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Astrologically, you seem to be under lucky stars on this date, and you will meet with unusual success, financially and otherwise. A friendship will be sorely tested, and not found wanting. Health conditions excellent. The child born on this May 1 will have an inquisitive nature, and it will seek adventure. It will have generous instincts, and will be very unselfish on the whole. It will be highly emotional, and will be easily influenced by the people with whom it is thrown into contact.

You are not a born gambler in any sense of the word. You always play for safety, whether a few dollars or several thousands are at stake; glit-glittered are your choice. You pin your faith to information rather than to intuition. If possible, you leave nothing to chance. Your "safety first" policy will never lead you to extremes. You will dwell along the level planes of existence; you will not taste the spice of adventure, a bread and butter diet suits you better. You make up your mind very slowly, and you are slow to change it. Your decisions are final, and you are satisfactory. You are fitted for detail work, as you have infinite patience, and the detail of a daily routine does not bore you. Although you are satisfied to be one of the minor cogs in the wheel of life, you are not a weak one. You do everything thoroughly and conscientiously, accuracy and not swiftness characterizes your work. You have a sunny, hopeful disposition, and you know how to be grateful. You are a great respecter of "law and order," and you uphold the conventions of the day. You have a strong will power, and can rise to any height of self-denial.

Paris, April 30. AS WE were saying yesterday about the court presentations for this May, there are a few more compulsory details besides colors and designs. One is the train which falls cape-like from the shoulders, the regulation length being no more than two yards. The other is the three small ostrich plumes, which are worn with white tulle tails that must be no longer than 45 inches. Long gloves are always worn, and fans or bouquets may be carried.

It is well known that the queen dislikes extremes of any kind, and this is possibly the reason why all of the models which one may see at the and chamberlain's are unquestionably adopted by those about to be presented to her majesty.

RYE BREAD. (Department of Agriculture.) Bread made entirely with rye flour or meal is heavy in comparison with wheat bread. In this country rye bread made with part wheat flour is preferred because it is lighter.

RYE AND WHEAT BREAD. (2 LOAVES.)

2 cups liquid.
1 1/2 cake yeast.
2 tablespoons sugar.
2 tablespoons salt.
About three cups sifted rye flour.
3 cups sifted wheat flour.

Make a sponge with the wheat flour. When the sponge is sufficiently light add the rye flour and the rest of the ingredients. The dough should be about as stiff as for wheat bread. When the dough reaches about one and three fourths its original bulk mold it into two long loaves with pointed ends.

In order to make the crust crisp bake in shallow pans with a thin layer of corn meal on the bottom instead of grease to prevent sticking. The temperature of the oven should be about 380° F.

INTERPRETS the MODE

Could gray fox be lovelier on anything than a pink maroon ensemble, part of which is this smart coat? (Courtesy of Drecoll Beer, Paris.)

Paris, April 30. AS WE were saying yesterday about the court presentations for this May, there are a few more compulsory details besides colors and designs. One is the train which falls cape-like from the shoulders, the regulation length being no more than two yards. The other is the three small ostrich plumes, which are worn with white tulle tails that must be no longer than 45 inches. Long gloves are always worn, and fans or bouquets may be carried.

It is well known that the queen dislikes extremes of any kind, and this is possibly the reason why all of the models which one may see at the and chamberlain's are unquestionably adopted by those about to be presented to her majesty.

Our Mode Primer. Sportswear is distinctly confined to sportswear. For the beach one must

RYE BREAD. (Department of Agriculture.) Bread made entirely with rye flour or meal is heavy in comparison with wheat bread. In this country rye bread made with part wheat flour is preferred because it is lighter.

RYE AND WHEAT BREAD. (2 LOAVES.)

2 cups liquid.
1 1/2 cake yeast.
2 tablespoons sugar.
2 tablespoons salt.
About three cups sifted rye flour.
3 cups sifted wheat flour.

Make a sponge with the wheat flour. When the sponge is sufficiently light add the rye flour and the rest of the ingredients. The dough should be about as stiff as for wheat bread. When the dough reaches about one and three fourths its original bulk mold it into two long loaves with pointed ends.

In order to make the crust crisp bake in shallow pans with a thin layer of corn meal on the bottom instead of grease to prevent sticking. The temperature of the oven should be about 380° F.

YANKS SNAP NATS' WINNING STREAK WITH 9-0 SHUT-OUT; PITT WINS MEDAL AT WASHINGTON CLUB WITH 73 CARD

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 30.—After waiting three weeks for the circus to clear out of Madison Square Garden, the prize-fight customers returned this evening and for their main event were shown a pair of clowns, one of them working in a new character, the other in a black-face. The boys were Maxie Rosenbloom, who seems to have learned his boxing swatting flies by hand, and Larry Johnson, a skinny Negro, with a little about the color of a tarnished red cent, who comes from Chicago.

Maxie was very droll and restrained, bawling occasional spasms of merriment when he waved his open gloves like butter paddles, spanking the colored party on his flanks and ears with soggy smacks, and Larry took things with comic earnestness, always striving to shoot his right hand down upon some imaginary groove to Rosenbloom's chin which was always elsewhere.

They romped and cavorted ten lively but uneventful rounds and although the action was always frisky the bout became a bit of a bore, like a hockey game in which there is always great commotion but nothing much doing. Rosenbloom won the decision.

No Place for a Klanman.

The prize fight between the Hebrew boy and the Negro was presented in the benefit of the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic organization, and the Garden this evening would have been an ideal place for a member of the Ku Klux Klan to say nothing about it.

The attendance ran to 14,325 and the gross receipts to $53,132, and although the house was fairly thickly settled in honor of the charity, the fight itself and the reopening of business, it must be noted that there were fewer low-necked wickets and more feminine spines in the ring-side rows than one is accustomed to see at the Garden.

The socially refined element, after a long and patient effort to elevate the racket, only to find themselves losing prestige and the racket maintaining its chaotic character, are now returning to their hedge-hopping charges, their silhouettes and their golf. The only refinement evinced at the ringside this evening was displayed by the millionaire stockholders of the Garden corporation who have money invested in their club memberships and feel a compulsion to frequent the clubrooms established for them as the original lure by the late Mr. Rickard.

Are Outnumbered by Common Element.

They were vastly outnumbered by the common element who are now

STEVINSON FINISHES SECOND BY A STROKE IN QUALIFYING ROUND

Pair of 5's on Last 2 Holes Blow to Medal Hopes.

Scores 78 or Less in Titular Flight at Washington.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

HARRY G. PITT, of the Manor Club, former Middle Atlantic champion, yesterday won the medal for low gross score in the qualifying round of the annual spring invitation tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club. He had a card of 37, 38-75, and led the field of nearly 350 players by a stroke, his nearest competitor being Miller R. Stevenson, of the Columbia Club and District amateur champion, whose card was 37, 37-74.

When Stevenson stood on the seventeenth tee he had played only 64 strokes, his card having been aided by a 15-foot putt for a deuce on the fourteenth green, and he needed only two par 4s to finish with 72. Unfortunately he missed his second shot on the seventeenth, scoring 5, and on the eighteenth he missed his second shot, instead of being on the green, was sliced to the right, so that he added another disastrous 5 to his score.

On First Hole.

Pitt started on his round with a 10-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the first green, but when he was a stroke over par on the second, taking three putts, missed his second stroke on the third for another stroke over par, and when his ball collided with a tree on the fourth hole for another stroke over par, the outlook for a good score was dismal.

However, when Pitt scored a par on the seventh, even with a penalty stroke for out-of-bounds, and narrowly missed a birdie on the eighth, going out in 37, his skies brightened and he would be a stroke after par, making the homeward journey in 36, one stroke over par, the low of this one stroke being on the eighteenth, where he missed his drive and required a 5 to hole out. The cards for the two leaders:

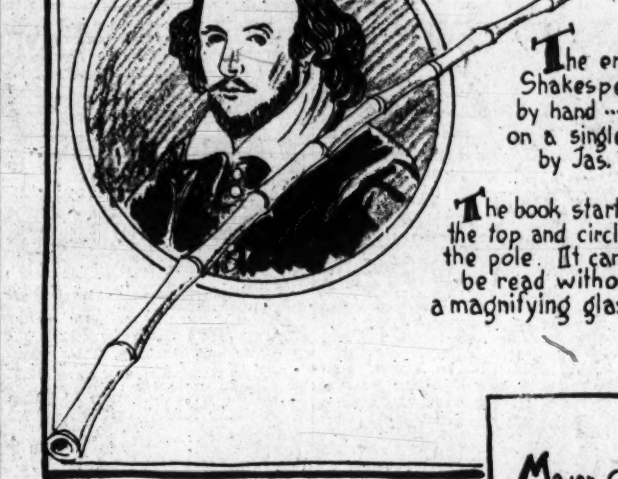

McCallum Plays Ball From Tree.

The day was full of interesting incidents as when Walter McCallum, on the fourth hole, played his ball into a tree and had to climb up in the branches to dislodge it; and when George Lovring, with a 6, 7 and 8

BRITISH PLAY U. S. WOMEN TODAY

Glenna Collet Leads Team Into International Match.

By FRANK H. KING.

SUNNINGDALE, Eng., April 30 (A.P.)—All was in readiness tonight for tomorrow's Anglo-American women's golf matches, the first of the series and perhaps the forerunner of official international competition such as the Walker Cup.

The American team, headed by Miss Glenna Collet, will meet the British team, captained by Miss Molly Gourlay, in four foursomes and singles in the morning and the singles in the afternoon. Today the greens and fairways of Sunningdale were short and rolled to velvet perfection and even the rough with golden green blossoming on the Berkshire hillsides beckoned invitingly.

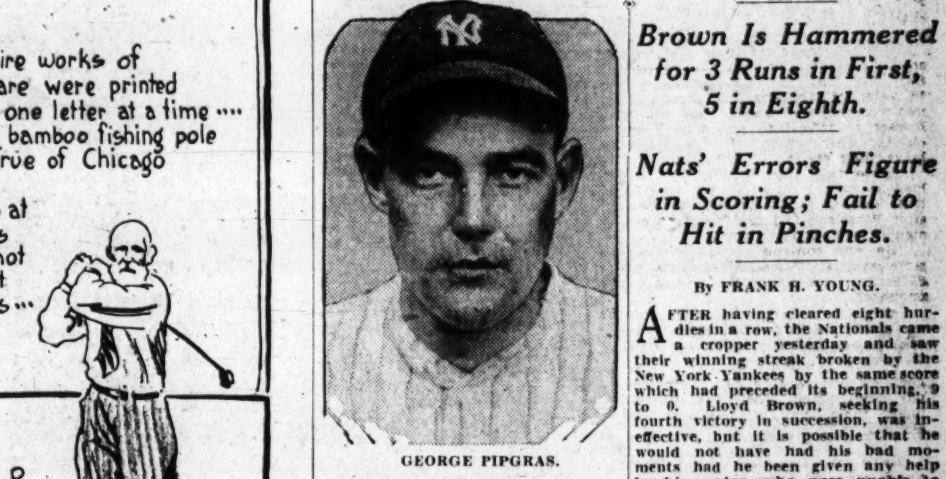

Golf Meeting Listed As "Unofficial."

The competition is styled "unofficial" because Misses Collet and Gourlay have arranged the meeting without official support, the players paying their own expenses to Sunningdale.

Never has an international match been staged with less practice. The Americans arrived only yesterday and have had only one full round over one of England's most difficult layouts, while only a few of Miss Gourlay's team have had any recent practice at Sunningdale. The two Scottish players, Mrs. J. B. Watson and Miss Jean McCollough, reached London last night and practiced with the Americans today.

The American girls went out today intending to keep their cards, but many errors necessitated replaying shots and one by one they put their pencils away. The steady wind furnished many puzzles for the visitors, while putting over the rough greens also presented difficulties.

OH-O-O-O-O-O-O-O-O-O!

NEW YORK, April 30 (A.P.)—George Phipps, of the Yankees, today snapped a streak of eight consecutive hits by yielding only five hits in a 9-0 shut-out against the St. Louis Cardinals.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (A.P.)—The Yankees today won their seventh straight game, a 9-0 shut-out against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Washington, 9-0; St. Louis, 0.

Stripp Leads Reds In 4-3 Win Over Cards

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 30 (A.P.)—Heavy hitting by Jersey Joe Stripp, playing his first full game of the season, today earned the Reds a 4-3 decision over the Cardinals.

Stripp tripled in the final inning and drove in Meusel with the winning run.

Yanks Break Loose In Eighth.

They broke loose in the eighth, however, scoring four times. Captain Binnie Tate made a three-base bag peg in this round, which let two runs, but as three hits followed, one would have registered in any case. Ruth led off with a single, Gehrig walked, and then Lazzari poked a one-baser to center. With one out, one run over and men on first and second, Tate trapped Lazzari off second and tore down toward short before throwing the ball. Then he cut loose, leaving after second base, and Lazzari and Byrd both scoring. Singles by Chapman, Haggraves and Phipps followed, whereupon Bobby Byrd relieved Brown and stopped the rally.

For such luck the Yanks scored one run off of Burke in the ninth, however, Ruth's safe bunt, Lazzari's single and Byrd's sacrifice fly being doing in the making of this tally.

Cardinals Off To 7-Run Lead

Winners Pile Up Big Total on 12 Hits and 11 Alien Errors.

Oliver's Homer With One On in Sixth Features Game.

COMBINING twelve hits with their seven runs, the Catholic University Cardinals easily defeated the Gallaudet Blues by a score of 16 to 1 yesterday in an abbreviated game in Brookland Stadium. The contest was called after six and one-half innings. It marked the Cardinals' return to the win column after three successive defeats.

Catholic clinched the decision by scoring seven runs in the first two frames. Seven Gallaudet errors occurred during this spurge. Johnny Oliver's home run to deep center with a mate on base in the sixth inning provided the only feature. Lou Gifford, Cardinal second sacker, got three hits in five times at bat. It was Gallaudet's final game of the season.

Gallaudet Scores Lower

Gallaudet scored its lone run in the second when Cosgrove drove in McMullen with a hit to center. Cosgrove went out trying to stretch his blow to a triple. Lou Hurley started on the mound for Catholic and gave way to Al Panjul after the fourth inning.

Owing to the withdrawal of G. H. Chasmar, Columbia, and Maj. E. Neiden, Army War College, each with 76, and Gilbert C. Carpenter, of Pennsylvania, with 78, all scores of 76 qualified for the first sixteen with no play-off. The large number of contestants led the club officials to add a sixth round, and a total of sixteen players a chance to compete in match play this morning. This number included several out-of-town visitors for whom provision was made.

Five entrants with scores of 90 lost out in the final draw, as follows: Ray E. Chapin, Columbia; C. M. Runswick, Beaver Dam; Hugh Mackenzie, Columbia; G. J. Richardson, Indian Spring, and C. E. Buck, Bannockburn.

Saturday Game May Decide Lacrosse Title

Close followers of lacrosse believe that the national collegiate championship for 1930 will be decided Saturday when Maryland entertains St. John's at College Park in the final event of the Old Liners' annual field day.

These two teams, both exceptionally strong and skillful, are conceded to be setting the pace now, with Johns Hopkins and Navy as the other leading contenders. Maryland meets both Hopkins and Navy later while St. John's tackles the Baltimoreans, but does not meet the Midlanders.

The lacrosse title Saturday at 4 o'clock will top off a great card. It will be preceded by the intercollegiate meet and a Virginia-Maryland dual meet to be run concurrently, beginning at 1:30, and a baseball game between Catholic University and the Old Liners to start at 2 o'clock.

One ticket will be good for all contests and a half-rate of 50 cents will prevail for school children.

St. John's Netmen

Defeat Devitt, 3 to 2

St. John's tennis team gained its second victory in the prep school league to bring its average up to 40 yesterday, when it defeated the Devitt racquetmen, 3 to 2, on the Sixteenth Street Reservoir court.

The doubles matches were divided between the two teams, but St. John's captured two of the three singles matches.

Spingarns—Willis (Devitt) defeated O'Hanlon, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4; Smith (St. John's) defeated Willis and Kennedy (Devitt) defeated Buchanan and Walters, 6-0, 6-0.

Byrd was the only Yankee not credited with a part in their attack. Ruth showing the way with three hits, all singles. Lazzeri, Chapman and Phipps obtained two each.

The first named, who ranks tenth nationally, is expected to return in time to appear against George Washington next Monday, but it is doubtful that Messner will be ready for action by that date.

Doddy Mitchell shouldered the burden for the Hilltoppers individual victories. He defeated Phillips, the Duke No. 1 in the singles, 6-4, 6-4, and paired with Freddy Doyle to down Phillips and Frank, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Kip Callan, who like Mitchell and Doyle, is a Washington native, scored the other Blue and Gray triumph in the singles, defeating Meyers, 6-3, 6-4.

inching back to their spiritual home, the ringside, in large numbers and with irrepressible insistency. Mr. David Belasco was present, chinning him on his high clerical collar, but then Mr. Belasco is interested in actors and pugilism, notwithstanding the greatest attack of uplift that industry has ever known, of late has been producing some noteworthy feats of make-believe.

One of the performers of the evening was a party named Roy Wallace, a middleweight who was taken up in a serious social way by the Palm Beach set. He was a tall, thin, and in all outward respects seemed refined enough until the eighth round, when he was convicted of dealing his opponent a low punch and was dismissed in disgrace.

Battle Creek and Palm Beach, his late proprietor and sponsor, had obtained waivers on him only a short while ago, and as events fall out, just in time, for it would have been a serious matter for the standard bearer of the socially refined to be taken in such a faux pas.

STOCK MARKET GROWS AS DOWNWARD DROPS

Prices, Despite Flurries of Selling, Prove Able to Gain Substantially.

AMERICAN TOBACCO UP

New York, April 30 (A.P.)—The stock market was called upon to absorb renewal flurries of selling today, but managed to carry yesterday's late rally substantially farther, despite rather unsettling news developments. The volume of trading declined sharply, aggregate sales of $453,360 shares falling approximately 900,000 short of yesterday's total.

Announcement of the long-rumored reduction of the Studebaker annual dividend rate, which was reduced from 48 to 40 cents a share, was reported for the week-ended April 19, were unpleasant potshots which the market had to swallow. Iron age reported that steel operators are averaging at 78 per cent of capacity, as reduced from 80 per cent last week.

The market was confusingly irregular during most of the day. It opened with a burst of strength, as several leading issues were taken in blocks of 5,000 to 10,000 shares. The market soon turned downward, however, and fluctuated uncertainly until the last hour, when shorts were driven to cover. They were just before the close yesterday. Speculators for the rise were encouraged by a diminishing volume of trading during the decline.

Coppers and Rails Heavy.

Coppers and rails were again conspicuously heavy, several recording new lows for the year or longer, but these issues rallied with the rest of the list in the last hour. Steels were also under pressure until the late upturn. Amusement, tobacco, oils, utilities and high-priced specialties were strong features. The price index of 90 leading shares showed a net gain for the day of about 1-3 points.

Speculative sentiment remained highly mixed. Several commission houses advised in-out traders to take profits on advances in expectation of further irregularities. Confidence in the longer term prospects remained unshaken. Wall street understands that there has been good investment buying in the declines.

U. S. Steel was a feature of the day, selling off about 4 points to 180 1/4, a new low for the movement, but rallying to close at 181 1/4. The American Tobacco issues sold up 8 points each to new high record levels and retained most of their gains. The price of the common stock of the company jumped 12 points, and Jewel Tea more than 10. Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical mounted about 7 and 8 points, then fell, and recovered their gains. Underwood-Elliott, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, Drug, Inc., and American Power & Light were well bought in the afternoon. Loew's rose about 2 points to a new high. Paramount Public, formerly Paramount Pictures, was bought in the afternoon. The stock of the company, which had been similar gains, while Radio Keith rebounded more than 4 points.

Southern Railway Declines.

Almost all of the coppers sagged to new lows for the year or longer. A conspicuous decline in the Southern Railway, which declined 4 points to 105, a low record for more than a year, and failed to rally. Studebaker lost 2 points, and the stock going below the bottom reached in the autumn crash, and Goodrich sagged close to its low of last November. Kroger Grocery Properties rose to a new low, then rallied 3 points.

J. M. Hancock, a director, said he knew of nothing in the company's affairs to justify the decline. He added that he fully shared the confidence in the company of the new management, and that he believed it is only a matter of time until the company is in operations and earnings will be evident.

Credit conditions remained stationary, and money holding at 4 per cent. Foreign exchanges were fairly steady, although sterling cables sagged 1/16 to 84 3/16.

Commodity markets were irregular. Wheat futures closed 1/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel lower, reflecting bearish weather reports and a corn advance slightly. Cotton rallied briskly for a time, but lost some of the gains in late realizing, closing 25 cents to $1.65 a bale higher.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, April 30 (A.P.)—A somewhat irregular cotton market, with sharp price changes, was the feature of the day. The market was generally higher, with the near month strength, but the new October advanced to 14 1/2, or 1/2 cent above the near month's closing quotations. These prices were similar to the near month's closing quotations, with the new October advanced to 14 1/2, or 1/2 cent above the near month's closing quotations.

The opening was steady at a decline of 5 points to 14 1/2. The market was active, with the near month strength, but the new October advanced to 14 1/2, or 1/2 cent above the near month's closing quotations. These prices were similar to the near month's closing quotations, with the new October advanced to 14 1/2, or 1/2 cent above the near month's closing quotations.

BANK PROMOTES THREE

By THOMAS M. CASHILL.

The Washington Board of Trade is sponsoring preparation of an informative book on Washington dealing with all phases of local activity. Federal departments, points of interest and containing short histories of many business houses and banking institutions. The leather-bound volume will contain about 300 pages of reading matter and between 200 and 300 illustrations.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 copies will be distributed free to larger hotels, chambers of commerce, libraries, public de luxe schools and other strategic mediums throughout the country by which the National Capital can be advertised best.

The board of directors of National Metropolitan Bank at a meeting yesterday selected two additional assistant cashiers and an auditor. Robert E. Briggs and F. B. Hildebrand were selected assistant cashiers and F. V. N. Cook, auditor. All of the proposed employees have been with the bank a number of years.

Bank Clearings at $118,936,852.

Bank clearings in the city totaled $118,936,852 for April as compared with $129,300,050.57 in April, 1929, and showing a decline of $11,363,197.57. The April figures show an improvement over the preceding month when they were $114,138,696.75. Clearings for the first four months of the year are $446,914,825.40. For the same period last year, they were $500,183,110.65.

The weekly bulletin of the Washington office of Ernst & Ernst states that a complete analysis by that firm of the published financial statements of nearly 1,000 corporations for 1929, both aggregate and classified by 35 lines, indicates that the financial structure at the close of 1929 was considerably improved, as compared with the two preceding years, which were record profit years themselves.

Certain backward tendencies are reflected in 1929, however. Inventories increased and the cash position declined. The inventory situation at the year-end was caused partly, no doubt, by the late arrival of the business reversal which checked stock clearing, and partly by abnormal crop conditions which necessitated the carrying over of larger stocks in certain lines.

Says Advertising Trade Barometer.

The increase in financial advertising which began in March and which has made further strides in April may be regarded as a fairly accurate barometer of the revival of business in general, according to Rudolph Guenther-Russell Law, Inc., country-wide financial advertising agency with offices in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and San Francisco. During the current month the company reports a continuously heavy volume of business substantially in excess of any previous month this year.

Completion of the Fox Film Corporation financing plan is being effected today with the public offering of the largest issue of motion picture securities this year—$55,000,000 of Fox Film Corporation secured 6 per cent gold notes, due April 15, 1931.

The proceeds from the sale of these notes have been or are to be used for the payment of maturing obligations, including the company's $15,000,000 issue of 6 per cent gold notes, due April 1, 1930, and for other corporate purposes.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

Technicolor, Inc.

I. R. K.—I will greatly appreciate it if you will advise me when Technicolor, Inc. was first put on the New York Curb Exchange, and at what price? Answer—February 19, 1930, at $33.62 1/2.

Indian Illuminating Oil.

H. S.—Since I am a stockholder of the Citrus Service Co., I have been advised to buy some Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Co. class "A" stock. I would like you to answer the following queries: (a) Your opinion of Indian Territory "A" stock. (b) Is it an investment or speculation? (c) Difference between "A" and "B" stock? (d) Comparison with Citrus Service common? Answer—(a) Because of company's close affiliation with Citrus Service Co., stock appears to have considerable long term attractiveness. Dividends of 5 cents per share have been paid in last two fiscal years. (b) Status of Class "A" is a nonvoting stock, while class "B" has voting power. (c) In view of company's earnings, dividends in cash and stock, and bright future outlook for corporation, there is hardly any comparison to be made between Indian Territory "A" and Citrus Service common.

DI Giorgio Fruit Corp.

D. J. L.—Do you think that units of the DI Giorgio Fruit Corporation, consisting of one share preferred and three shares of common, are a good investment at $40 per unit? Answer—In view of the fact that company has paid no dividend on preferred since October 1, 1923, and that none have been paid on the common and that there is a large accumulation of preferred stock dividends unpaid, the units are not to be classified as an investment, especially as passed record of earnings is rather poor, with net income insufficient to cover preferred dividend requirements since 1922.

Net income for year ended December 31, 1928 (latest available figures), was $1,000,000. Preferred stock, 100,000 shares, at $40 per share, totaling $4,000,000, is in arrears. Dividends of 10 cents per share have been paid on the common since 1922.

Certainated and Others. T. C. C.—Will you let me know something about the following stocks as investments: Certainated Products, Indian Motorcycle, International Corporation Engineering, American Piano, Ohio Copper? I will appreciate your opinion very much.

Answer—When will people ever learn to differentiate between investments and securities of a speculative type? If you had purposely endeavored to pick out a group of issues that have no claim whatsoever to the title "investments," you could not † Included in this total are the shares reserved for the conversion of the outstanding Fifteen-Year 6% Convertible Gold Debentures to be retired in connection with the financing and the shares reserved for exchange for the common stock of International Projector Corporation and National Theatre Supply Company outstanding in the hands of the public.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. H. L. Clarke, President of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., from his letter dated April 30, 1930

Organization and Business: General Theatres Equipment, Inc. was incorporated in 1929 under the laws of Delaware to acquire a number of the leading companies engaged in the manufacture and distribution of motion picture and theatrical equipment and supplies. The Company has now acquired the control of Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theatres Corporation, which together comprise a completely integrated unit and one of the largest and most successful motion picture groups in the United States.

Financing arrangements have been completed for Fox Film Corporation and Fox Theatres Corporation which have resulted in providing approximately $100,000,000 for current obligations and working capital, leaving both companies in strong financial condition. In this connection Fox Film Corporation has sold $55,000,000 Secured 6% Gold Notes (due April 15, 1931) and Fox Theatres Corporation has sold 1,600,000 shares of Class A Common Stock of Fox Film Corporation which it acquired as part consideration for the sale to Fox Film Corporation of 660,900 shares of the common stock of Loew's, Inc.

Fox Film Corporation has taken a leading position in the production of talking pictures, employing the Movietone system of recording sound. Through a wholly owned subsidiary it owns, controls, operates or leases approximately 450 theatres on the Pacific Coast and in the mid-West. Fox Film Corporation has a substantial stock interest in a British company which owns 65% of the ordinary stock of Gaumont British Pictures Corporation, operating over 300 theatres throughout the British Isles. Fox Theatres Corporation owns, controls, operates or leases about 180 theatres in a circuit extending from coast to coast, including The Roxy in New York City and the well known Fox Theatres in Brooklyn, Detroit, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C.

General Theatres Equipment, Inc. owns 50% of the capital stock of Grandeur, Inc., and practically all of the outstanding stocks of International Projector Corporation and nearly 90% of the outstanding common stock of National Theatre Supply Company. International Projector Corporation manufactures over 75% of the motion picture projectors used in theatres throughout the world and controls important patents on sound projection equipment. National Theatre Supply Company maintains a nation wide distributing organization for all types of equipment used in theatres.

Earnings: The Pro Forma Condensed Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss, for the twelve months to December 31, 1929, of General Theatres Equipment, Inc. and its subsidiaries (including the result of operations for a full twelve months' period of all subsidiaries acquired within the year, adjusted for non-recurring expenses for the period prior to acquisition amounting to $21,270,282), after adjusting for bond interest and amortization eliminated by the present financing, and including - full year's dividends on the shares of Fox Film Corporation Class A and Class B Common Stocks below mentioned, at the annual rate paid for the past four years, shows total income before interest, bond amortization and expense, depreciation and Federal Income Tax, of $7,331,968.59. Maximum annual interest requirements on the Company's funded debt presently to be outstanding will be $1,800,000. These earnings do not reflect the equity of General Theatres Equipment, Inc. in the undistributed earnings of Fox Film Corporation.

Voting Trust: All of the Company's Common Stock has been deposited under a Voting Trust expiring July 1, 1939. H. L. Clarke, W. F. Ingold and W. S. Hammons are Voting Trustees under the agreement and The Corporation Trust Company acts as depository for the Common Stock.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds of the present sale of Common Stock will provide in part the funds required by the Company to cover its obligations in connection with the purchase of 501,011 shares of Class B Common Stock (a majority of such stock), and not less than 1,000,000 shares of Class A Common Stock of Fox Film Corporation, and all of the outstanding shares of Class B Common Stock of Fox Theatres Corporation.

Voting Trust Certificates for Common Stock of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and the Chicago Stock Exchange.

This information and these statistics are not guaranteed, but have been obtained from sources which we consider reliable.

Legal details in connection with the issuance of this stock will be subject to the approval of Messrs. Rudolph, Baber and Stern, New York City, for the Bankers, and Messrs. Matthews & Keagel, Chicago, for the Company.

We offer the above 433,000 shares when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to the approval of Counsel and to allotment and to prior sale. It is expected that Voting Trust Certificates will be available for delivery on or about May 8, 1930. Delivery in the first instance may be made in the form of temporary Voting Trust Certificates.

Fox Film Corporation

Secured 6% Gold Notes

Due April 15, 1931

Price 100 and interest

A letter from Mr. W. C. Michel, Vice-President of the Corporation, is summarized as follows:

Company: Fox Film Corporation is one of the largest and most prominent companies in the world engaged in the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures. Its product is distributed throughout the world.

Fox Film Corporation has acquired from Fox Theatres Corporation the latter's holdings of common stock of Loew's Incorporated.

Security: These Notes, in the opinion of counsel, are a direct obligation of the Company and are specifically secured under a Trust Indenture by the pledge of 660,900 shares of common stock of Loew's Incorporated and all the capital stock of United American Investing Corporation, which has a substantial stock interest in Metropolitan and Bradford Trust Company, Ltd., owners of 65% of the ordinary stock of Gaumont British Picture Corporation, and represents an investment on the part of Fox Film Corporation of $20,000,000.

Equity and Assets: As at December 28, 1929, the pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Fox Film Corporation and wholly owned subsidiary companies, as prepared by independent auditors, reveals net tangible assets, without deducting this issue, of approximately $157,208,511 (including over-$9,800,000 of cash), an amount equivalent to $2,850 for each $1,000 of Notes.

Earnings: The consolidated net earnings of Fox Film Corporation and subsidiary companies, available for interest requirements on this issue, after maintenance, taxes (other than Federal income), depreciation, amortization and other deductions, including profits applicable to minority interests and interest requirements on the mortgage and funded debt of subsidiary companies, for the two fiscal years ended December 28, 1929, as reported by independent auditors, are given below:

Year	Amount
1928.....	$6,572,840*
1929.....	13,966,355*

Annual Interest Requirements on this Issue..... 3,300,000

* The 1928 and 1929 figures are before the deduction of special charges consisting of obsolescence of silent films, amortization and advertising costs, and in the amount, respectively, of $2,085,117 and $2,775,225. In the figure given above for 1929, profits on the sale of securities of $1,617,000 have not been included, nor have there been deducted certain non-recurring charges aggregating $50,364.

Management: The management of Fox Film Corporation will be vested in certain principal operating executives who have been responsible for the past success of the Company, augmented by the engineering and scientific staffs of General Theatres Equipment, Inc.

This offering is made subject to the conditions more fully set forth in the complete descriptive circular, a copy of which may be had upon request.
